Chicago Bus Driver Frank Neumann, right, looked bewildered Monday as Mrs. B. Cruse tried to hide after the $5,500 she left on his bus was returned to her. Mrs. Cruse's ex-husband, Roy, center, accompanied her to establish claim for the money. Mrs. Cruse gave the bus driver $50 reward and said, "I'm sorry I can't give you more, but I'm out of work." Properly Vaccinated Child Can't Spread Polio, Dr. Salk Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Jonas E. Salk said today that children "properly vaccinated" against polio do not transmit the disease to others.

He declared that contraction of polio through association with children who already have received Salk immunity injections "is so highly improbable as hardly to merit consideration."

The question of "association cases" arose as Dr. Salk, developer of the vaccine, appeared in company with 14 other of the nation's foremost polio authorities before a House Commerce subcommittee.

"It is clear that children who receive properly prepared vaccine do not transmit disease to adults, because they do not have the disease," Salk told the congressmen.

Then under further questioning by Rep. Hayworth (D-Mich.) who said authorities of one New Jersey community ordered vaccinated children to keep away from school as potential carriers of polio, Dr. Salk declared there was no evidence to support association contraction.

"Not if the children receive properly prepared vaccine," he said.

But Dr. Salk conceded "there seems to be an association" between contraction of polio by others who have come in contact with children receiving improperly made vaccine.

Public Health Service statistics on polio incidence have shown a considerable number of cases among persons associating with others who have received vaccine.

Earlier in the hearing the question was raised whether the Salk vaccine as now manufactured might produce kidney ailments.

Dr. Salk said he had determined experimentally that it would not have any effect on the human kidney.

But doubts were expressed by some other physicians among 15 outstanding researchers in the field of virus medicine who were before the subcommittee.

Chairman Priest (D-Tenn.) arranged the session with the idea, he said, of "creating a renewed and well-informed confidence in the program."

The discussion developed that some residual protein from monkey kidney material remains in the vaccine under present manufacturing processes. The polio virus needed for the vaccine is grown in monkey kidney.

Dr. Manfred M. Mayer of Johns Hopkins University said there was no way to tell whether this protein might result at some future time in kidney ailments but he said there was such a possibility and that to guard against it most of the "impurities" as he referred to the protein—should be removed.

At the opening of the session, Dr. Albert B. Sabin of the Children's Hospital Research Foundation, Cincinnati, told the House group that polio is most deadly to young adults between the ages of 21 and 30. It is "no longer a disease we should call infantile paralysis," he said.

Sabin also said paralytic polio strikes more frequently in the higher and middle income groups than in any other parts of society.

Coinciding with the House subcommittee session was a closed meeting of the Public Health Service's advisory committee on vaccine matters.

Priest said in a statement in advance of his subcommittee's open session:

"I feel that before the committee can act intelligently on public assistance to defray costs of a nationwide vaccination program, we must know more about the scientific problems involved."

"There are really two problems involved here, scientific and social. We must have the answer to the first, as best we can get them, before we can act intelligently on the second."

The subcommittee sought information on the advisability of giving second shots during the summer polio season, the effectiveness of manufacturing safeguards, and like matters.

Molotov to Ask Peace Pledges by U.N. Members

Opposes Time Limit on Geneva Talks

By MAX HARRELSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Russia's V. M. Molotov was expected to bring into the open today his demands for a United Nations declaration pledging all its 60 members to work for peace.

Western diplomats believed this would be the centerpiece of the foreign policy statement which the Soviet foreign minister was to make before the U. N.'s 10th anniversary session.

Molotov was reported last night to have given the Western Big Three foreign ministers a partial reply to their proposals for setting up the summit talks in Geneva next month.

Informed quarters said he had made reservations on only one important point: Namely, the Western proposal to limit the talks to four or six days. He wants no time limit.

As the session went into its third day, there appeared to be little doubt some form of peace declaration would be approved. The main problems were procedure and form.

In private talks, Molotov has said he wants the 60 nations to adopt a formal resolution urging all-out peace efforts.

Propaganda Move

Western diplomats call this a propaganda move. They have indicated, however, that they would agree to a declaration by Dr. Eelco N. Van Kieffens of the Netherlands, General Assembly president, saying that the delegations here unanimously support all peace attempts. This would not require a formal vote.

The question was: Would Molotov drop his demand for a formal action and agree to the Western suggestion for an informal approach? If so, the meeting would continue to reflect the new atmosphere of apparently diminishing tension which was the keynote of its opening sessions.

Western diplomats were as much interested in the tone of Molotov's speech as in its content because of the significance it might have in relation to the summit meeting in Geneva next month.

President Eisenhower, in opening the U. N. meetings Monday, pledged that the United States would do everything possible to make the Big Four talks a success. Molotov first brought up the peace resolution in a private meeting with U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld last Sunday.

Later he mentioned it to Van Kieffens. Both told him they did not feel that the San Francisco meeting was the place to adopt resolutions.

Monday night the Soviet foreign minister discussed his plan with the Western Big Three and they also objected to a resolution. He gave no indication in any of these talks that he was prepared to alter his position.

Any further meetings of the Big Four foreign ministers appeared unlikely during the present session. British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan planned to leave tonight on his return trip to London.

After today there still remained two more full days of speaking and a concluding ceremony next Sunday. French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay speaks tomorrow and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Friday morning. Former President Harry S. Truman speaks Friday night.

Ike Signs Bill Allowing Woman To Stay in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Margaret Isabel Byers, 87, will be permitted to live in the United States under a bill signed by President Eisenhower Tuesday.

Mrs. Byers, of Moose Jaw, Sask., Canada, entered the United States as a visitor in 1949. She never applied for extension of her stay with a daughter, Mrs. Hazel Dunton of Annandale, Minn., and her failing health postponed deportation, according to immigration officials.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.), who introduced the bill, said Mrs. Byers should not be forced to return to Canada, where she has no one to care for her.

Italian Cabinet Falls, Premier Scelba Resigns

By FRANK BRUTTO

ROME (AP)—Premier Mario Scelba today turned in the resignation of the coalition government with which for 15 months he has battled Italian Communism and backed the West.

Even as Scelba was closeted with Pres. Giovanni Gronchi in the Quirinale Palace, a communique from this morning's heated Cabinet session said:

"The Council of Ministers agreed unanimously on the presentation to the President of the resignations of the entire Cabinet."

There was no indication whom Gronchi might pick to attempt to form a new government. Presumably the nod will go to Scelba's own Christian Democrat party, by far the largest single faction in Parliament. But the President must choose between the right and left wings, which are badly split.

Despite last-minute efforts to patch up his government by reshuffling some Cabinet posts, Scelba was doomed last night when his party's directorate announced "with regret" that the attempt had failed.

The Christian Democrat communique said the party high command held "that the reshuffle cannot be considered—as a sufficient means for reconstituting the understanding between the parties of the Democratic coalition."

The party leaders officially blamed the failure on the refusal of the small Republican party to promise support for the government in a parliamentary confidence vote scheduled tomorrow.

But the key factor really was the split in the Christian Democratic ranks and especially the opposition to Scelba from the right wing.

With his party holding only 262 of the 590 Chamber of Deputies seats—far short of a majority—Scelba has relied on a coalition with three minor center parties for the votes necessary to put his policies over.

17-Year-Old Boy Elopes With Teacher

CHESTERFIELD, England (AP)—Norman Bircumshaw, a 17-year-old high school student, has eloped—with the prettiest teacher in his school.

He disappeared a week ago with Celia Timmins, 23, a physical training instructor. They left letters saying they were heading for Scotland to marry.

The last trace of the couple was at a hotel near the Scottish border. They stayed the night in separate rooms, then headed north in her car.

Scotland is the usual destination for runaway young English lovers. After 21 days over the border, minors can marry without the parental permission England requires.

Friends said Norman and Celia had been planning to elope for some time.

mountain resort at Chittenden, conferring there with Vermont Republican leaders at breakfast tomorrow morning. Later he will go on to New Hampshire and then to Maine for two days of fishing at Kennebago.

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) said in an interview that if anything could heal a Republican split in the state it would be Eisenhower's candidacy for a second term next year.

He said Eisenhower's decision to visit New England bolstered his own belief the President will run. "I am satisfied he will run because he has to run," Flanders said. "The reason he has to run is because he cannot drop the responsibility for leadership either in the nation or the world."

Sen. Bridges (R-NH) said every element of the GOP will be represented when Eisenhower makes three stops for speeches in New Hampshire. He plans also to visit briefly at Lincoln, the home town of White House chief of staff Sherman Adams.

Bridges, who doesn't see eye to eye with Adams on some political matters, will introduce the President for one talk. Sen. Cotton (R-NH) will officiate at another and Gov. Lane Dwinell at a third.

All this apparently was planned to promote party harmony in a state where the Democrats bid strongly for the 1st Congressional District seat in 1954, losing by 468 votes out of 107,636.

Gambling Won't Flourish in Iowa

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (AP)—There are indications a gambling syndicate may be planning to start operating in Iowa, Atty. Gen. Dayton Countryman says.

The attorney general told the Iowa Police Officers short course here Tuesday night that if such a syndicate does move into the state, it will be "stamped out and crushed."

Senate-House Conferees Agree On Pay Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate-House conferees agreed today on a bill raising salaries of 1,073,262 federal employees 7½ per cent retroactive to March 1.

The Senate conferees obtained only a few minor increases in the raises voted by the House. The Senate originally had passed a 10 per cent pay increase measure; the House on Monday voted for 7½ per cent.

Some of the conferees said they had been advised President Eisenhower would accept no more than 7½ per cent.

The increases, which will total about 328 million dollars annually, apply to 983,057 classified civil service employees and about 90,205 related workers.

Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) had said earlier the Senate conferees would fight to give the rank-and-file federal employees an 8 per cent pay raise.

The half-million postal workers already have been given a raise averaging 8 per cent.

Johnston tacitly conceded he did not expect anything more than 8 per cent. But he said:

"I do not see how it would be fair to give the classified employees less than we gave the postal employees. And I do not see how the President can veto an 8 per cent bill when he approved that amount for the postal workers."

A Republican senator who asked not to be named noted, however, that the 8 per cent for the postal employees was an average. Actually, each worker got at least 6 per cent. Then there was a job reclassification provision which meant 2 per cent additional, but this will be distributed unevenly so that some will get more than 8 per cent, others less.

"If we give all of the classified employees 8 per cent, then some of the postal workers who got less than that are going to be right back asking for more," said the Republican.

Minneapolis Man Opens Wrong Door, Dies in Home Fire

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A Minneapolis man died in smoke and flame early today when he tried to escape through an outside door, but opened a closet door by mistake.

Firemen found the body of Norman Berndt, 44, of 2543 Stevens Ave., in front of a closet door which when open blocks off the door leading to the street.

Arson squad firemen said the blaze apparently started in bed and that it was likely Berndt had fallen asleep while smoking.

Berndt, a World War II veteran, rented out most of the house and resided in a large room attached to the home.

Appointee Ex-Governor Of Michigan

Has Been Active In Republican Circles for Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—Robert T. Stevens resigned today as secretary of the Army and President Eisenhower nominated Wilbur M. Brucker, general counsel of the Defense Department, to succeed him.

Stevens gave "compelling personal considerations" as his reason for quitting. He was a principal in last year's row between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and top Pentagon officials, but neither he nor Eisenhower, who accepted the resignation today, made any reference to that spectacular event.

Brucker, a former governor of Michigan, has been general counsel at the Pentagon since April 1954. He will be 61 Thursday. His home is in Detroit.

The White House announced Stevens' resignation and made public a letter in which the President accepted "with deep regret" just before Eisenhower left on a six-day tour of New England.

Stevens will leave the Pentagon about the end of July. He told Eisenhower he would work out the precise date with Secretary of Defense Wilson.

Wilson, Stevens and Brucker drove with the President from the White House to the airport.

Stevens' resignation came a year after his spectacular clash with McCarthy over the question of alleged subversion in the Army and also asserted favored treatment for a one-time McCarthy aide, Pvt. G. David Schine.

Previously the Army's general counsel, John G. Adams, quit his post in the aftermath of the hearings and so did McCarthy's top aide, Roy M. Cohn. Both Cohn and Adams were principals in the 1954 dispute.

Brucker was governor of Michigan from January, 1931, to the end of December, 1932. Previously he was Michigan's attorney general.

A native of Saginaw, Brucker is a Republican. So is Stevens.

In his letter of resignation Stevens said he first brought to the attention of the President "a few weeks ago" the personal considerations he said have dictated his decision to resign.

Stevens' letter continued: "I have conferred with Mr. Wilson and believe I can accomplish what you and he desire of me before the end of July."

"If this is satisfactory to you, I will be guided accordingly and work out the precise date of my resignation with Mr. Wilson who, I am sure, will keep you informed. I cannot submit my resignation without expressing my profound admiration of your leadership during these last two and a half years and my deep appreciation of the opportunity you accorded me to serve the country and your administration during this same period. I shall always be grateful for this chance to serve our great Army and for your never-failing support."

"I leave with real regret. I would like to carry on as a member of your team. Only personal considerations have decreed it otherwise. I am sure you know that I will always be willing to be of service to you, if the occasion should arise."

Accepted With Regret
Accepting the resignation "with deep regret" Eisenhower said in a letter to Stevens he was "indeed sorry that you find it necessary at this time to return to private life." Eisenhower started his letter "Dear Bob."

The President said Stevens had made a "large personal sacrifice" in continuing as Army secretary, and went on to say: "As secretary of the Army during the past two and one-half years you have contributed extensively to the vital task of reshaping our military forces to conform to the conditions of our time. Secretary Wilson and I have been grateful for your devotion and strong support in carrying it through."

"As you return to private affairs, you carry with you my personal gratitude for your fine service along with every wish for your health and happiness in the years ahead."

Badger Senate OKs Cigarette Tax Hike, 20% Surtax

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The Wisconsin Senate Tuesday handed Gov. Kohler a bill increasing the state tax on cigarettes from three to four cents a package and authorized him to sign a typewritten copy of it so the boost could go into effect July 1.

In another vital phase of Kohler's money raising program, the Senate passed and sent to the Assembly a measure providing for a 20 per cent surtax on incomes.

The cigarette increase is expected to raise $7,400,000 in the next two years, and the surtax about $29 million dollars.

The cigarette bill originated in the Assembly and won Senate concurrence by a 20-13 vote.

The vote on the surtax measure was 23-10 with Republicans Demsey of Hartland and Draheim of Neenah going along with the eight Democrats against it.

In asking the Legislature for both bills, Kohler said the new sources of revenue, together with other proposals he offered, would provide enough money to balance the budget for the next five years and leave a surplus of some five million dollars.

Czech Refugee Wants to Get Daughter to U.S.

SAN FRANCISCO (U)—A department store sales clerk who fled Europe in 1948 pleaded ardently by mail today with Czechoslovakia's foreign minister for a permit to let his motherless little daughter join him in the United States.

Philipp Heller, 39, of Sacramento, came to San Francisco in hope of winning diplomatic backing from United Nations bigwigs to fulfill his great wish.

He found people sympathetic, but "awfully busy" with U.N. conferences and festivities.

He didn't see the Czech foreign minister, Vaclav David.

But his letter tells the pathetic story in capsule form:

"Excellency—

"The United Nations is commemorating a great occasion—the 10th anniversary of the charter signing of the United Nations.

"My daughter is also 10 years old. But her mother, my first wife, died at Prague and my child was put in an orphanage. Now I am married to an American woman. After so many years I want my child with me and don't want her to grow up as an orphan.

"Aren't you of the opinion that it would be in the spirit of today's United Nations celebration if your government would grant my daughter, Vera Anita Hellerova (last known address: Praha-Liben, Chocholouskova Ulice 4) an exit permit, so that she could live with her father?"

Heller's address is 915 T St., Sacramento, Calif.

Dishonest Compromise On Reserve Bill Charged

WASHINGTON (U)—Rep. Powell (D-N.Y.), in a reversal of position, today accused House leaders of trying to force through a "dishonest" compromise military reserve bill that would bypass his antiregulation amendments.

Powell, whose amendments have stalled President Eisenhower's reserve program in the House, said he has withdrawn his previously announced support of compromise proposals and will fight them.

He said in an interview his switch was prompted by a prediction made by House Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts. Leaving the White House yesterday, Martin said he expected the final reserve bill to come close to the measure originally asked by Eisenhower. The President has publicly indicated his disapproval of the attaching of antiregulation riders to such legislation as the reserve bill.

A compromise has been proposed by Rep. Vinson (D-Ga.) Martin described Eisenhower yesterday as "not too pleased" with the Vinson bill.

Members of the House Armed Services Committee rebuffed Vinson, their chairman, yesterday and voted 16-14 to send the bill to a subcommittee for polishing. Vinson had urged the full committee to approve the compromise at once.

Interviewed after the weekly meeting of Republican congressional leaders with Eisenhower, Martin said the final version of the bill to strengthen the reserves would be worked out in separate House and Senate action, then in a conference of the two houses. Martin also said the President wanted a bill providing for more reserve expansion than would come about under the Vinson bill.

Powell said Martin's outline of strategy meant that the final bill could contain features he is opposing—assignment of reservists to National Guard units and some provisions construed to contain elements of universal military training.

The month long House impasse was created by adoption of Powell's amendment to bar assignment of reservists to National Guard units practicing segregation. The Vinson compromise would eliminate all reference to the Guard. Powell originally hailed this as a "clear-cut victory for me."

Powell said he accepted the Vinson measure "as a sincere compromise. But if the Senate can take care of these features, this is nothing but a subterfuge and a dishonest attempt to win our votes" in the House.

Powell said he would fight all compromises unless given assurances the final bill will eliminate the National Guard and other provisions he is opposing. Because opponents of various elements of the reserve program are backing him, Powell's stand could be significant.

The Vinson bill would eliminate various provisions backed by Eisenhower, including a proposed new six-month training program for teen-age volunteers who then would be liable for 7½ years in the active reserves.

Elsewhere in the defense field, a Senate-House conference committee yesterday agreed on legislation to extend the doctor draft for two years beyond June 30 and to reduce the maximum age of draftable doctors from 50 to 45.

Both Senate and House already have approved a four-year extension of the regular draft, which also is due to die on the last day of this month.

Giant Marine Trap Planned To Snare Monster

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (U)—Scientists here are planning a giant marine trap to snare a monster from the ocean depths of Cook Strait.

They do not know exactly what they will catch.

"The possibilities are fascinating," says Prof. L. R. Richardson, head of the zoology department at Victoria University College, Wellington.

"Sworn statements by experienced mariners indicate that there are at least four types of giant ocean creatures still unknown to man. Some people call them sea serpents."

to the 1870s of occasional strandings along the shores of Cook Strait of giant squid, fearsome creatures with plate-sized eyes, bodies 10 feet across with 10 tentacles up to 25 feet long.

With echo soundings taken a few years ago, the probable home of these giant squid was charted. This is a 6,000-foot-deep canyon connecting the Palliser Bay end of the strait with the Pacific Ocean.

Eyota Denies School to Five Districts

Inadequate Space Cited as Reason For Board Decision

WYOTA, Minn. (Special)—Pupils from five non-operating area school districts have been denied schooling here as of Sept. 1, due to cramped quarters.

In a resolution sent by the board of Consolidated District 56 to parents and officials in the five districts, it was noted that "problems of more room and modern facilities belong to a new and reasonably enlarged district. Citizens of the district can share in the responsibilities, decisions, costs and educational planning."

Another area district sending some of its pupils here, Common District 115, which is operating a grade school and has a teacher hired for the coming year, was given until September 1956 to unite with Eyota or find new educational facilities.

The move came, according to Supt. S. L. Johnson, after a State Department of Education survey of local facilities, and a threat of changes in school classification and resultant loss of state aids. Several meetings to discuss the situation were held between the parents of the six districts and the Eyota school board.

Johnson said that the state department was critical of inadequate shop, home economics, commercial and band space and suggested that the school classification might be changed from the present six- to a four-year high school if more space is not provided.

It is the feeling of the board of District 56, Johnson continued, that it has an obligation to the parents and children of the consolidated district and that merger with the six districts would be welcomed.

This is expected to be a topic for discussion at the June 28 rural school annual meeting. Districts 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 110, 111, 112, 113, 114, 115, 116, 117, 118, 119, 120, 121, 122, 123, 124, 125, 126, 127, 128, 129, 130, 131, 132, 133, 134, 135, 136, 137, 138, 139, 140, 141, 142, 143, 144, 145, 146, 147, 148, 149, 150, 151, 152, 153, 154, 155, 156, 157, 158, 159, 160, 161, 162, 163, 164, 165, 166, 167, 168, 169, 170, 171, 172, 173, 174, 175, 176, 177, 178, 179, 180, 181, 182, 183, 184, 185, 186, 187, 188, 189, 190, 191, 192, 193, 194, 195, 196, 197, 198, 199, 200, 201, 202, 203, 204, 205, 206, 207, 208, 209, 210, 211, 212, 213, 214, 215, 216, 217, 218, 219, 220, 221, 222, 223, 224, 225, 226, 227, 228, 229, 230, 231, 232, 233, 234, 235, 236, 237, 238, 239, 240, 241, 242, 243, 244, 245, 246, 247, 248, 249, 250, 251, 252, 253, 254, 255, 256, 257, 258, 259, 260, 261, 262, 263, 264, 265, 266, 267, 268, 269, 270, 271, 272, 273, 274, 275, 276, 277, 278, 279, 280, 281, 282, 283, 284, 285, 286, 287, 288, 289, 290, 291, 292, 293, 294, 295, 296, 297, 298, 299, 300, 301, 302, 303, 304, 305, 306, 307, 308, 309, 310, 311, 312, 313, 314, 315, 316, 317, 318, 319, 320, 321, 322, 323, 324, 325, 326, 327, 328, 329, 330, 331, 332, 333, 334, 335, 336, 337, 338, 339, 340, 341, 342, 343, 344, 345, 346, 347, 348, 349, 350, 351, 352, 353, 354, 355, 356, 357, 358, 359, 360, 361, 362, 363, 364, 365, 366, 367, 368, 369, 370, 371, 372, 373, 374, 375, 376, 377, 378, 379, 380, 381, 382, 383, 384, 385, 386, 387, 388, 389, 390, 391, 392, 393, 394, 395, 396, 397, 398, 399, 400, 401, 402, 403, 404, 405, 406, 407, 408, 409, 410, 411, 412, 413, 414, 415, 416, 417, 418, 419, 420, 421, 422, 423, 424, 425, 426, 427, 428, 429, 430, 431, 432, 433, 434, 435, 436, 437, 438, 439, 440, 441, 442, 443, 444, 445, 446, 447, 448, 449, 450, 451, 452, 453, 454, 455, 456, 457, 458, 459, 460, 461, 462, 463, 464, 465, 466, 467, 468, 469, 470, 471, 472, 473, 474, 475, 476, 477, 478, 479, 480, 481, 482, 483, 484, 485, 486, 487, 488, 489, 490, 491, 492, 493, 494, 495, 496, 497, 498, 499, 500, 501, 502, 503, 504, 505, 506, 507, 508, 509, 510, 511, 512, 513, 514, 515, 516, 517, 518, 519, 520, 521, 522, 523, 524, 525, 526, 527, 528, 529, 530, 531, 532, 533, 534, 535, 536, 537, 538, 539, 540, 541, 542, 543, 544, 545, 546, 547, 548, 549, 550, 551, 552, 553, 554, 555, 556, 557, 558, 559, 560, 561, 562, 563, 564, 565, 566, 567, 568, 569, 570, 571, 572, 573, 574, 575, 576, 577, 578, 579, 580, 581, 582, 583, 584, 585, 586, 587, 588, 589, 590, 591, 592, 593, 594, 595, 596, 597, 598, 599, 600, 601, 602, 603, 604, 605, 606, 607, 608, 609, 610, 611, 612, 613, 614, 615, 616, 617, 618, 619, 620, 621, 622, 623, 624, 625, 626, 627, 628, 629, 630, 631, 632, 633, 634, 635, 636, 637, 638, 639, 640, 641, 642, 643, 644, 645, 646, 647, 648, 649, 650, 651, 652, 653, 654, 655, 656, 657, 658, 659, 660, 661, 662, 663, 664, 665, 666, 667, 668, 669, 670, 671, 672, 673, 674, 675, 676, 677, 678, 679, 680, 681, 682, 683, 684, 685, 686, 687, 688, 689, 690, 691, 692, 693, 694, 695, 696, 697, 698, 699, 700, 701, 702, 703, 704, 705, 706, 707, 708, 709, 710, 711, 712, 713, 714, 715, 716, 717, 718, 719, 720, 721, 722, 723, 724, 725, 726, 727, 728, 729, 730, 731, 732, 733, 734, 735, 736, 737, 738, 739, 740, 741, 742, 743, 744, 745, 746, 747, 748, 749, 750, 751, 752, 753, 754, 755, 756, 757, 758, 759, 760, 761, 762, 763, 764, 765, 766, 767, 768, 769, 770, 771, 772, 773, 774, 775, 776, 777, 778, 779, 780, 781, 782, 783, 784, 785, 786, 787, 788, 789, 790, 791, 792, 793, 794, 795, 796, 797, 798, 799, 800, 801, 802, 803, 804, 805, 806, 807, 808, 809, 810, 811, 812, 813, 814, 815, 816, 817, 818, 819, 820, 821, 822, 823, 824, 825, 826, 827, 828, 829, 830, 831, 832, 833, 834, 835, 836, 837, 838, 839, 840, 841, 842, 843, 844, 845, 846, 847, 848, 849, 850, 851, 852, 853, 854, 855, 856, 857, 858, 859, 860, 861, 862, 863, 864, 865, 866, 867, 868, 869, 870, 871, 872, 873, 874, 875, 876, 877, 878, 879, 880, 881, 882, 883, 884, 885, 886, 887, 888, 889, 890, 891, 892, 893, 894, 895, 896, 897, 898, 899, 900, 901, 902, 903, 904, 905, 906, 907, 908, 909, 910, 911, 912, 913, 914, 915, 916, 917, 918, 919, 920, 921, 922, 923, 924, 925, 926, 927, 928, 929, 930, 931, 932, 933, 934, 935, 936, 937, 938, 939, 940, 941, 942, 943, 944, 945, 946, 947, 948, 949, 950, 951, 952, 953, 954, 955, 956, 957, 958, 959, 960, 961, 962, 963, 964, 965, 966, 967, 968, 969, 970, 971, 972, 973, 974, 975, 976, 977, 978, 979, 980, 981, 982, 983, 984, 985, 986, 987, 988, 989, 990, 991, 992, 993, 994, 995, 996, 997, 998, 999, 1000.

Alternate Bids To Be Asked for School Project

Alternate Bids will be requested by the Board of Education on a boiler installation at Madison School. The board will ask for one set of bids on repair and renovation of the existing boiler while the others will be for installation of a new oil burner operated boiler.

In special session Tuesday afternoon, the board decided on the dual bid plan after hearing a report from Johan Hart, an inspector of the Employees Group Insurance Co. The inspection was requested after the board learned the state will not permit operation of the boiler in its present condition.

And the board set a special meeting for Friday at 5 p.m. for further discussion and determination of architectural engineering needs involved in a new installation.

20 or 35 Years
Hart said in reply to a question that he did not believe a complete overhaul of the 23-year-old boiler would make it serviceable for an additional 20 years. The board anticipates that the cost of a new installation may be twice that of repair, but a new boiler should last 35 years at a minimum. With this in mind, the board decided to ask for repair bids to put the boiler in "first class" condition that would extend useful life of the boiler another 15 years in addition to bids for a completely new installation.

Installation of a new oil burning unit brought up another problem that resulted in setting of the Friday meeting. Board members decided to consult architects and boiler firms for advice concerning engineering that would be required to prepare plans for a new installation. It is believed, however, that specifications would not be necessary before advertisement for bids because contractors could inspect the site.

A motion by Director-at-Large Clarence P. Hartner that the board engage a different architectural firm for the new installation was lost for want of a second. The firm of Schubert, Sorensen & Associates has been employed for recent boiler projects.

3-2 Vote Recorded
A poll of five directors attending (in addition to President Carroll Syverson) showed a vote 3-2 in favor of retaining Schubert, Sorensen & Associates.

President Syverson, however, said that it was his opinion that perhaps the board should try another firm for this particular project, adding that he bears no animosity concerning past relations in taking the stand. He suggested that he and 3rd Ward Director B.A. Miller seek further information on boiler installations and be prepared to report Friday.

Attending the meeting were President Syverson, Vice President William A. Lindquist, Harold Schultz, Miller, Hartner, Dr. L. L. Korda, Alvin Voss, acting superintendent of buildings and grounds, Clerk and Business Manager Oscar Glover and Supt. of Schools Harvey D. Jensen.

First Concrete Was To Be Poured today on the city of Winona's $60,000 sidewalk, curb and gutter project. Herbert Stahl, foreman for the Ready Mixed Concrete Co. of Wausau, Wis., the contractor, awaits first delivery from the Winona ready mix firm. This is on Pelzer street, from West 5th street (Highway 61) to the Arthur C. Thurlay Homes. Curb and gutter also will be laid here. The contractor will work from the west end to the east end of the city twice, doing the work approximately in the order that the jobs were requested. The assessment rolls for payment of work done will not be approved by the Council until the entire job has been completed. That may not be until early next year. Meanwhile, the Council plans to open bids July 18 for another assessment sidewalk job. (Daily News photo)

Buffalo County Court Powers Are Expanded

ALMA, Wis. (Special) — A bill modernizing the judicial system of Buffalo County has been passed by the State Legislature and enacted into law by Gov. Kohler.

The new bill forms the County Court into a court of general jurisdiction and will allow nearly all work of a legal nature in Buffalo County to be transacted in one court. The present probate court and juvenile court powers will be retained without change. In addition there will be added a police court branch, a small claims court branch and a circuit court branch.

The police court branch will use justice court procedure and will try all the relatively less serious cases involving violations of state law or county ordinances. This will include nearly all traffic cases, disorderly conduct and other minor cases. The new law removes the power to try these cases from the justice of the peace but either the police court branch or the justice of the peace may try violations of the peace may try violations of the city, town or village ordinances.

The small claims branch will use justice court procedure to try all civil suits up to $500. Procedure and costs are greatly simplified so that cases between $200 and $500 can be brought at much less expense than before. The justice of the peace retains the right to try cases involving claims of less than $25.

The circuit court branch will use regular circuit court procedure and will handle civil suits up to $2,500 and criminal cases up to murder. It is anticipated that the $2,500 civil limit will be raised by the Legislature after the court has been in effect for awhile. The new law will allow circuit court level cases to be tried when ready rather than be delayed up to half a year waiting for the next circuit court session. A jury may be called as in circuit court but will be called only upon request of the judge when a jury case is before him rather than at the beginning of each session.

The office of county judge is made a full-time job requiring full-time office hours and prohibits any private practice whatsoever by the county judge. It raises his salary $2,000.

The new bill brings Buffalo County into line with other counties as all but four counties in Wisconsin now have extended power of some nature in their county courts. The bill was sponsored by the Buffalo County Bar Association and was drafted by Dist. Atty. Gary B. Schlosstein. It was introduced in the Assembly by Assemblyman Mamre Ward.

The police court and small claims branch will go into effect July 5. County Judge G. L. Pattison will hold a general session of the court at Madison the first Wednesday of each month starting July 6. The circuit court branch will go into effect Sept. 1.

A motion day will be held for Buffalo County on July 7 at 1:30 p.m. conducted by Circuit Judge Kenneth S. White.

Attorney General Gives Go-Ahead to Brainerd Hospital
ST. PAUL 20 — Atty. Gen. Miles Lord informed Administration Commissioner Arthur Naftalin today the state may proceed with planning and construction of the main administration building for a new state mental hospital at Brainerd.

Naftalin had asked Lord to clarify the state building act approved by the last Legislature. He specifically asked if there was authority to proceed with the necessary architectural and construction work for the main administration building and essential utilities services.

The law was so worded, according to Naftalin, that it could be construed that the $1,675,000 appropriation could be used for architectural work for the entire 2,000-bed hospital for mentally retarded children.

In giving the go-ahead signal, Lord said Naftalin is authorized to prepare final specifications for a new 2,000-bed capacity building. The Legislature appropriated only enough to erect an administration building. That amount would not have been sufficient to pay the architectural costs for a 2,000-bed hospital.

Naftalin indicated that a contract for the building and architectural planning will be ready for signing by Toltz, King and Day of St. Paul within a few days.

La Crescent Youths Pour Coffee Over Letters in Mailbox
LA CRESCENT, Minn. (Special)—What may have been intended as a prank may turn out to have serious repercussions for local youths who poured coffee, which had been served them at a meeting Tuesday, into the outside mail receptacle at the local post office.

Nineteen letters and pieces of mail were damaged, some being thoroughly soaked with coffee. One letter had to be destroyed and others had to be dried out by a blotter. It was noted that on other occasions cigarette butts have been dropped into the receptacle.

Local and federal postal authorities have been notified, and an investigation will be made. Irvin Yeiter, acting postmaster, reminded parents and others that it is a federal offense to tamper in any way with the mail or equipment for handling the mail. Yeiter made it clear that this also includes rural mail boxes, one of which was severely damaged by vandalism just this week.

Guernsey Quartet With 'Show Boat' Here on Saturday

One of the most entertaining quartets in the Midwest, the Ewald Golden Guernseys, will be one of the featured quartets in the Winona Jaycee presentation of "Show Boat," slated for Saturday night at the Winona Senior High School auditorium.

With the familiar tune, "Won't You Wait Till the Cows Come Home," the four men have signed off programs over the air, on stage and television or wherever their barbershop harmonies have been presented.

The Ewalds, part of a cast of more than 100 persons performing Saturday night, are members of the Minneapolis chapter of SPEBSQSA (Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America).

Local chairmen of the affair announced today that a sixth quartet—composed entirely of Winona men—has been added to the list of entertainers.

Known as the Dis-Chords and officially registered with the SPEBSQSA, the group includes Ed Eckert, lead; Jim Carlson, baritone; John Saeker, bass, and Dick Darby, tenor.

Other quartets which will appear on the program—first ever held in Winona—are the world-famous Atomic Bums, the nationally-famous Lake-Aires, the Northmen and the Four Errors.

Rounding out the cast will be the Minneapolis chapter chorus of 80 voices.

Dr. Edward H. Hamlet will be master of ceremonies and Judge Luther Sletten will direct the chorus and portray the showboat character, Captain Andy.

Tickets may be purchased at St. Clair & Gunderson, from Jaycees or at any Winona barbershop.

Mental Cruelty Charged

Former Independence Girl Divorced From Roosevelt

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Without mention of her previous charges of misconduct, Mrs. Romelle Roosevelt won a default interlocutory decree of divorce Tuesday from Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif.). She alleged extreme cruelty.

Mrs. Roosevelt, former Independence, Wis., resident, testified that the eldest son of Franklin D. Roosevelt was in the habit of staying out late at night, would not account for his movements, finally told her he wanted a divorce.

Superior Judge Kurtz Kauffman approved as "fair and equitable," a property stipulation agreed to last June under which she receives $1,625 a month for herself and their three young children, whose custody she retains. He did not, however, make it a part of the decree. Mrs. Roosevelt would have to institute suit, rather than seek a contempt citation, if Roosevelt failed to live up to terms of the agreement.

The separation agreement was reached two days after Roosevelt, Wis., girl was assigned as a special nurse to care for the eldest son of the then president of the U.S. Romelle Schneider was about 23 then, and not long after she was married to "Jimmy," a marriage which was ended in a California divorce court Tuesday.

Search Yields Body in Lake Near Durand

Retired Farmer, 87, Apparently Suffered Attack While Fishing

DURAND, Wis. (Special)—The body of a retired Mondovi area farmer was recovered from Thompson's Lake a mile and a half west of here on Highway 10 early today.

Although it was originally believed August Schreiner Sr., 87, had drowned in the lake, Pepin County Coroner Dr. R. J. Bryant said, after an investigation which included consulting Schreiner's family physician, that he had suffered a heart attack and tumbled down an embankment into the lake.

The coroner learned that Schreiner had been receiving treatment for a coronary condition, for some time.

Time of death was not definitely established, but it was known that he left his home in German Valley en route to Eau Claire about 9 a.m. Wednesday. Schreiner had taken lunch for the fishing trip but the lunch had not been eaten.

Authorities theorized that he stopped to fish at the lake near Highway 10 before going on to Eau Claire. Relatives became alarmed when he did not return Wednesday night and notified Sheriff Victor Selene.

The sheriff, Traffic Officer Guy Miller Jr., Miller's father, Ray Nothman, Tony Polzer and Tony Cebe centered the search on Thompson's Lake when they found Schreiner's car parked there. Two boats were sent out into the lake and the men, using poles with hooks, located the body in about 13 feet of water in about 45 minutes. The search of the lake shore had produced Schreiner's hat, but the body was found some distance from that location about 3 a.m.

10-Foot Embankment
Schreiner apparently fell down a 10-foot bank and into the water after the attack.

Funeral arrangements were being completed today at the Ede Funeral Home, Mondovi.

Schreiner was born in Mondovi Aug. 28, 1867, and farmed in German Valley until selling his farm this spring. He resided in a house on the farm.

Surviving are: His wife and a daughter, Mrs. Wayne (Bessie) Pace, Mondovi Rt. 5. Two sons are dead.

School District 6 Ordered Attached

The combined boards met following the filing of a petition with the Buffalo County School Committee. The change will be effective July 1.

CAR WINDOW DAMAGED
Harold Heller, 86 Fairfax St., told police Tuesday afternoon that a window on his car was damaged by air rifle pellets. He said the car was parked on East Mark street near the Gateway Transportation Co. and that he noticed the damage when he returned to the vehicle about 3 p.m.

More than 300 different products are packed under pressure in cans so that they can be sprayed out.

The Last Two Living Commissioned officers of an original 47 in the 12th Minnesota Volunteers were present at the 51st annual convention of the United Spanish War Veterans at New Ulm. Capt. Albert Steinhauser, left, served as captain of A Company, 12th Minnesota Volunteers, in 1898. After his discharge, he joined the 45th United States Infantry Volunteers and went to the Philippines. He was wounded May 28, 1900, and received the Silver Star citation 25 years later. He has been a practicing attorney in New Ulm since his discharge.

William F. Pletke, right, was a first lieutenant in Company C. After his discharge he went into the grocery business in Winona until 1920 when he moved to Yakima, Wash., where he became a fruit grower. Steinhauser is 88 and Pletke is 84. The average age of the Spanish-American War veterans is 80.

Liberace Meets Challenge of Movie Kisses

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — Liberace has met the challenge of big-screen movies, kissing scenes and all.

So far in his professional career, the candelabra king hasn't been allowed much more affection than kissing his mother on the forehead. But now he's making his first starring movie, "Sincerely Yours," and you know how Hollywood can change things.

Oh, he's getting the romance, all right. His amours in the film are brown-haired beauty Joanne Dru and Dorothy Malone, the shapely blonde who sizzled the screens in "Battle Cry."

His first screen kiss was with Miss Malone, and it was a lulu. "We had to hold it while the camera panned over to William Demarest and Joanne," he said. "Then the camera panned back to us, still kissing. Wow!"

But his kiss with Joanne was even more notable. "For three days, her neck had been out of joint and she had been having massages for it," he related. "When I grabbed her and kissed her, I heard a strange noise—you can even hear it on the sound track. It turned out I had put her neck back in joint."

How some of Liberace's possessive fans go for all this smooching remains to be seen. But at least they will be satisfied in seeing a lot of him in the picture.

Liberace plays a popular pianist, but not really Liberace. At least Mom is missing. George, too. The story shows him afflicted with partial deafness at the beginning of the picture. Toward the end, he faces an operation that will either restore his hearing or make him completely deaf. You can guess how it turns out.

Oh, yes, he also garners Miss Dru at the fadeout, having managed to elude Miss Malone. Director Gordon Douglas reported that Liberace's performance is going to surprise a lot of people. "I had him do two weeks of piano scenes," the director remarked. "I thought it would be a good way of breaking in. His performance had been remarkable. He had one crying scene that is terrific."

Educator Attacks Public Apathy in Crime Situation

ST. PAUL — "Public apathy and the dead weight of indifference is a difficult barrier" to a rotatable improvement in the crime situation and corrections a Chicago educator said here today.

Dr. Frank T. Flynn, University of Chicago professor in the school of social service administration, made the statement to delegates attending the National Probation and Parole Assn. conference.

"There must be education of the community," Dr. Flynn said, "including not only the general public but leaders of public opinion."

Dr. Flynn said there is nothing seriously wrong with probation and parole today — except that they are not used more effectively.

"When an apathetic public wakes up to the facts and puts pressure on penny-pinching appropriating bodies, probation and parole services will improve, but not until then," he said.

Dr. Flynn said federal grants-in-aid could change America's crime problem in a decade.

Woman Can't Make Up Mind on Jury Vote

SANDUSKY, Mich. — Refusal of a woman juror to join in a guilty verdict resulted in a hung jury last night in the trial of Harry Smith, former superintendent of schools. The foreman reported the jury after deliberating 23 hours had voted to convict Smith of embezzling $25,000. But defense counsel demanded the jury be polled. Mrs. Charlotte Murray said she could not make up her mind. The jury was discharged after it deliberated two more hours.

American Wolf Doesn't Have Time to Wolf Now

By EARL WILSON

ISTANBUL—The American wolf has disappeared... either that or he's hiding somewhere from America's wolfesses, in the opinion of beautiful movie star Ann Miller of Houston and Hollywood, with whom I've been assle-quitting on this voyage.

"The wolf doesn't have time to wolf any more," commented the legogenic brunette now on a long tour for MGM, "because he's too busy climbing telephone poles."

Miss Miller explained this after she'd changed into some sexy-looking, tight-fitting pedal pushers which laced up around her shapely knee.

"The poor wolves are running for their lives," Ann moaned, "and don't forget, they're not as healthy as they used to be."

"They're eating a little mangy and moth-eaten... They're sort of had it."

This cultural subject came up aboard our Flying Carpet trip to Turkey when I casually mentioned that a magazine had beseeched me to name the 10 Biggest Wolves.

"Well, there's—and there's—," answered Miss Miller.

"But they're married," I mentioned.

"Married men are the worst wolves," squealed Miss Miller.

"Single men don't have time. They're too busy... running."

Miss Miller said that. "There are 10 beautiful girls to every man in Hollywood, New York, Las Vegas, Chicago, San Francisco and Texas," and that she thinks, "it's rather unattractive for girls to be calling men up and asking them for dates all the time."

"Well, there's—and there's—," answered Miss Miller.

Romulo Proposes Rededication of U.N. to Peace

SAN FRANCISCO — Gen. Carlos P. Romulo proposed to the United Nations today that it adopt a "San Francisco Declaration" rededicating member governments to peace, justice and freedom for all mankind.

Romulo, chairman of the Philippine delegation and former president of the U. N. General Assembly, said:

"I hope that the sense of history and opportunity we all now feel may be expressed here in some sort of rededication for the United Nations, before we adjourn."

"In talking to many delegates, I have been impressed with the growing feeling that this anniversary meeting should, in some way, produce the words that would convince people everywhere to be convinced that we are not only all for peace, that we speak for peoples who yearn for peace, but that we pledge our governments to the achievement of peace with security, justice and freedom for all mankind."

"We are not here to propose or approve resolutions. But certainly we can somehow give expression in what may later be known as the San Francisco Declaration to a rededication of ourselves to our main purpose, which is nothing less than a planet made fit and safe for all members of the human community."

He called upon the peoples of the world "to provide the United Nations with the specific support required to achieve these objectives."

"To keep the giant political systems from coming together in a head-on collision that will shatter civilization itself."

"The function of the United Nations is not to eliminate diversity but to make the world safe for diversity," he observed.

Gunfire Echoes In California's Uranium Rush

BARSTOW, Calif. — Gunfire echoed in the desolate foothills of the Ord mountains this week as California's newest uranium rush got under way.

Sheriff's Deputies said last night that between 1,000 and 2,000 prospectors—some of them amateurs who brought their families along—are in the furnace-hot, snake-infested hills.

Sheriff Frank Bland of San Bernardino County said that two dozen shots were fired Monday in the area in what was believed to be a claim-jumping fracas, but no one was hurt. Who took part in the incident is a mystery.

Bland told prospectors to leave children behind and bring plenty of water. The center of the strike is in the Mojave Desert 25 miles southeast of Barstow.

The nearest water is at Newberry, 10 miles to the northwest on U. S. 66. Temperatures reached 106 and 108 degrees in the area yesterday.

Ex-POW Fischer Presents Plaque to U.N. Dignitaries

SAN FRANCISCO — One of four airmen recently released by the Chinese Communists presented a plaque yesterday to Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. and Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld of the United Nations as formal thanks for the fliers' freedom.

Capt. Harold E. Fischer Jr., 30, of Swea City, Iowa, made the presentation to Lodge, U. S. ambassador to the U. N., on behalf of the World Veterans Foundation.

Accepting, Lodge said "we must keep the faith with our prisoners." Then he complimented Hammarskjöld's "intelligent and persistent" efforts to free Americans still held in China.

Galesville Honors Judge George Gale

GALESVILLE, Wis. (Special)—When Founder's Day was held here Sunday, attendance was less than average, probably because of the postponement from June 5.

The program was given in the Marynook gymnasium, followed by a ceremony of placing a wreath at the grave of the founder, Judge George Gale.

Rolf Gierre, speaker of the day, outlined the life and work of the judge who founded Galesville 101 years ago. He stressed the influence of Gale's life on the present generation and praised the effort of the early settler.

Miss Joan Willis was the 1953 graduate of the Gale-Etrick High School chosen to conduct the graveside ceremony, and she led a procession from the gymnasium to the Gale family lot. A firing squad from the Rowles-McBride American Legion Post paid military honors with a salute and "Taps."

'Terrible Teddy,' 4, Sued for Battery

LOS ANGELES — Four-year-old Teddy Levy, called by his parents "The Terror," is the youngest defendant ever sued for battery in Superior Court here. His grandmother, Mrs. Ann Rubin, claiming she suffered two fractured vertebrae after baby sitting with Teddy, asked $150,000 damages yesterday. She named the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Levy, as codefendants.

Mrs. Rubin said she spent several weeks in a hospital after Teddy vaulted the davenport and landed on her. Teddy's parents said they called their son "The Terror" because of the zest which he portrays Superman, Dick Tracy and Davy Crockett as fancy strikes him.

"My telephone is the cheapest service I buy"

If I had to hire people to do what my telephone service does... I'd need a fast messenger, perhaps three or four, to run errands. I'd need a chauffeur to take me to folks I wanted to speak to personally, voice to voice. I'd need a watchman, too, so I could sleep peacefully—so I'd always know Helen and the baby were safe at home.

I'd have to pay these people to work 24 hours a day, no days off. I couldn't afford that.

But you can guess what I do pay for all this—and more? My home telephone service costs less than one cent an hour. You bet it's the cheapest service I buy! Northwestern Bell Telephone Company

Italian Town Won't Be Moving To Connecticut

BENEVENTO, Italy (P)—Doubts and passport difficulties have arisen in nearby Pontelandolfo over mass emigration to Connecticut.

Antonio Boccaccino, deputy mayor of the town of 5,885 persons, said, "There wasn't really an invitation at all."

Townfolk at first had understood they were invited "come one, come all" by a "Mr. Darcey," who visited their town from Waterbury, Conn. The Waterbury Republican-American reported its general manager James Darcey has been vacationing in Italy.

The Pontelandolfians know a lot about Waterbury. In the days of wide-open immigration, at the turn of the century, 15,000 of their fellow townsmen went there.

Boccaccino said "Mr. Darcey" didn't really bring any formal invitation. Like most folks, he merely spoke in glowing terms about his home town and praised the Italian emigrants from Pontelandolfo for their contribution to its development.

In the first wave of enthusiasm over the supposed invitation, townfolk were reported unanimous in their willingness to go. In Naples, U. S. Vice Consul David Post, of Wayne, Pa., said, "It would be impossible, however, to tell how many of them may actually be trying to get visas."

There still are immigration quotas to consider too, he said.

From Waterbury came another note of caution.

Mayor Raymond E. Snyder said, "They'd certainly be welcome, but where would we put them?" He said Waterbury already has a housing shortage, and a lack of jobs.

8 State Airports To Split $48,500

ST. PAUL—Grants of state funds totaling $48,500 to improve airports in eight Minnesota communities were approved Tuesday.

The legislative advisory committee authorized the allocations from the aeronautics fund on the basis of two-thirds state and one-third local funds.

State appropriations approved were:

Rochester $12,400; Hibbing $13,400; Mankato $8,400; Pipestone $12,000; Faribault $1,000; Wadena $300; and Grand Rapids $800.

In addition the committee approved $5,000 for location of an airport along the North Shore.

Reds Unhappy As Love Comes To China's Youth

TOKYO (P)—As it must to all humankind, love has come to the youth of Red China. And the Communists are pretty unhappy about it.

China Youth, a Communist magazine, grows at the way "part of our youth devote themselves to love and throw themselves into a frenzy of lovemaking."

This is called "detrimental to the national interests."

Some love is okay, the magazine concedes, but you've got to look at it from "the right angle." Here is the right angle:

"We must succeed in one thing: That is to place love in a secondary position in one's life. . . ."

"That means we must not allow lovemaking or the vexation arising therefrom to affect our political and labor ardor, much less to become pessimistic and to sacrifice oneself for the sake of love."

Some young engineers up in Manchuria, home of most of Red China's big factories, just about expire from love and can't "devote themselves to work," the paper said.

But all is not bleak. There was the young hero who was sent out West and pined for his girl. So he went back to Shanghai and played around for six months. Then he turned his face resolutely and patriotically to the West once more. As China Youth reported, "He learned that if the flower of love did not bloom on the foundation of socialist construction, it would fade very soon."

Republican New Mayor of Denver

DENVER (P)—Will F. Nicholson, 54-year-old Republican state senator and friend of President Eisenhower, was elected Denver mayor by a margin of only 766 votes in the Colorado capital's first runoff election yesterday.

The 6-foot-4 winner officially polled 60,505 votes to 59,739 for his opponent Dist. Atty. Bert Keating.

Keating, a Democrat, conceded the hairline decision three hours after polls closed. He specified it was a conditional concession. "I want to check and see that the returns are correct," he said.

The runoff was made necessary when neither Nicholson nor Keating, who emerged topmost in a six-man mayoralty field in a May 17 election, polled a required majority.

Absentee ballots turned the balance in the nonpartisan election. Those who actually visited the polls in the city's 407 precincts gave Keating an advantage of 34 votes. But Nicholson, president of a real estate firm and twice a state senator, polled 2,366 absentee votes to 1,566 for Keating.

The winner assumes the four-year, $18,500-a-year post July 1. He succeeds Quigg Newton, a two-term mayor who had accepted a post with the Ford Foundation in New York.

Nicholson ran for the Senate on the GOP ticket against Democrat Edwin C. Johnson, now Colorado governor, in 1948.

Hotels and Motels Bidding for Business

The Marshfield, Wis., News-Herald carried an interesting editorial the other day on hotel-motel facilities, and the bid being made by both for the business of the vacation traveler. We quote the News-Herald:

With the vacation season in full swing and Mr. Average American looking forward to a long jaunt in the family car, if he hasn't already "hit the road," many of us are going to have our first experience with a relatively new American institution — the deluxe motel.

In this land of constant change, many people learned last year that the old-fashioned "motor court" is a thing of the past, and that they had to pay from $12 to $16 a night for lodging for a couple. They may have decided to go back this year to the hotels.

If our traveler wants air-conditioned comfort, Hollywood beds, television, a dip in a heated swimming pool — and perhaps baby-sitting service, supervised playground facilities, and a special kennel for the dog — he can get all of these at the elegant roadside motel. Of course he'll pay.

If all he wants at the end of a 300-mile drive is a clean bed and a reasonably efficient shower, and perhaps a few ice cubes, he may find that these can be had at lower cost at a well-recommended hotel.

At the end of the war there were about 2,000 motor courts in the United States, a good proportion of them Pop-and-Mom affairs which charged from $2 to $5 a night, with a free cup of coffee in the morning. Now there are some 8,000 motels, many of the country club type, whose charges will eat rapidly into the vacation budget.

While the number of motels has been increasing, the number of hotels has declined. But now there are warnings that the motel business is over-expanded, and bankers are looking with a fishy eye on new loans for such enterprises. And the hotels are beginning to fight back.

The welcome mat is out for the tourist at the in-city hostilities. They are offering better value and better service and are reported to have spent a billion dollars since 1953 fixing themselves up.

Improvements include adjacent floodlighted parking lots, special lobbies for motorists where they need not dress up, and cheerful family suites where children under 14 can sleep in cots or cribs without extra charge.

Then, of course, there are such establishments as Wisconsin Rapids' new "motelized" hotel, where many of the conveniences of the hotel and the advantages of the motel are offered together. Two Rivers, long in need of new hotel facilities, is making plans for a modern hotel of this general type.

Hotel advertising is encouraging off-season vacations and telling the public that the best movie in town is just around the corner. A part of the increasing investment of hotel companies, however, is being used to take over and make over motels that are in financial difficulties.

Thus the hotels recognize that the motel is nevertheless here to stay and that there will continue to be some people who like motels better.

Cult of Liberalism Proving Unpopular

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

NEW YORK — Prof. Richard Hofstadter of Columbia University is having a tough time translating himself into a conservative. Apparently the cult of liberalism is proving as unpopular in the 1950s as the cult of fellow-traveling proved to be in the late 1940s. Men who live by labels often discover that their thinking has run away from the labels, so the liberal calls himself a conservative, and Prof. Hofstadter calls conservatives, "pseudo-conservatives," whatever that may mean. He tries to tell what it means in a long article in the "American Scholar" but gets into an interesting tangle. For instance, he makes this point:

" . . . after 20 years the New Deal liberals have quite unconsciously taken on the psychology of those who have entered into possession. Moreover, a large part of the New Deal public, the jobless, distracted and bewildered men of 1933, have in the course of the years found substantial places in society for themselves, have become home-owners, suburbanites and solid citizens. Many of them still keep the emotional commitments to the liberal dissent with which they grew up politically, but their social position is one of solid comfort. Among them the dominant tone has become one of satisfaction, even of a kind of conservatism."

Is that bad?

THE HISTORY OF the United States has been one of protest and rectification, of a struggle for a higher standard of living, of a constant rise of individuals from one social group to another. We are not a static society. We are a competitive society. We do not expect the poor to remain dispossessed; we expect them to move forward not in a struggle for existence but in an adventure in freedom.

That has been our story since the first settlers began to move westward, from New England to New York and Ohio, from Virginia to Kentucky and Tennessee and then westward until they reached the Pacific, and southward until they reached the Rio Grande.

The protesters of one generation become the conservatives of another. Were William Jennings Bryan alive, he would find that some of his most fantastic economic and social concepts are conservative today. The socialism of Norman Thomas became the New Deal of Franklin D. Roosevelt, which is no longer progressive in the period of Walter Reuther.

It is because conservatives pull in one direction and the protesters in many opposite directions that we are not a static or a revolutionary society. The quarrels among conservatives and radicals produce not conformity but a dynamism that functions progressively as long as there is equality of opportunity on the economic side and a lust for better life on the social side.

THE DOCTRINAIRE liberal is often appalled by prosperity when according to his notions there should be failure; by growth when he believes the frontiers have disappeared; by the strength of the capitalist system when he believes that it should have failed by now. He just does not understand how it is that dumb clucks do manage to put things together and make them run. The answer is that they do. And they do it because they want to get more of the good things of life for themselves and their families.

So when Prof. Hofstadter worries about the "punitive reaction" of those whom he calls pseudo-conservatives, he talks nonsense. There is no such thing. He may be worried about a general desire to kick all Communists and their friends in the teeth, but that has to do with another subject. It is a normal response to betrayal. It is a characteristic American dislike for the citizen who prefers another country to his own. It can all be read in Edward Everett Hale's "The Man Without a Country," which was written in another era and is wholly unrelated to current events. The sentiment of that book persists. The feeling is that those who hate America ought to go to some place which they do not hate.

There are those who would confuse anti-Communism and anti-betrayal with anti-intellectualism and conformity. They assume that if they change the words, they change the facts. They assume for themselves a monopoly of intellectual disciplines which they do not possess to any greater degree than those whom they oppose. None of this really matters. What does matter is that the United States survives them all.

Housewife's Gas Rates Stake in Mayors' Fight

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Operating strictly sub rosa, the powerful oil-gas lobby has put the heat on the nation's mayors to support the gas bill now before Congress which overrules the Supreme Court and bars any federal regulation of gas transmitted through interstate pipelines. Result of this lobbying is a battle of mayors that is echoing in city halls across the country.

In another sense, it's a fight between two mayor Clarks—Philadelphia's Mayor Joseph Clark Jr., Democrat, fighting for the consumers, and Indianapolis' Mayor Alex Clark, Republican, fronting for the oil lobby.

The Harris Bill which the oil lobby wants passed would cost the housewives higher gas bills estimated at around $400,000,000 annually.

That's why Mayor Clark of Philadelphia began rallying other big-city mayors against the bill. He lined up more than 50 mayors, representing 30,000,000 consumers, to protest to Congress.

Not to be outdone, the oil companies lined up the other Mayor Clark of Indianapolis, who began cranking out press releases in favor of the bill. He argued, in the name of free enterprise, that producers should be free to raise field prices. Finally he showed up in Washington, his pockets stuffed with letters and telegrams.

These messages came to him, Clark of Indianapolis claimed, as a "spontaneous" outpouring from city heads who sided with him.

"My stand has apparently attracted widespread attention," he told the Senate commerce committee. "As evidence of this, I have with me today very many telegrams and letters that I have received from mayors."

Real truth, however, is that the messages were secretly solicited by the oil companies. Their game was given away by a teletype statement from Mayor W. A. Hensley of Bartlesville, Okla. Across the bottom, this private note appeared: "Given to F.R. over phone 5-19-55 by J. W. Clark of Phillips Petroleum Co."

The Phillips official apparently got the mayor's message garbled, because, the way it came out, Hensley went on record as contending: "Producers and gatherers (sic) of gas must be freed of federal regulation if dangerous encroachment on our free enterprise system is to be preserved."

Presumably, this novel plea to "preserve" encroachment on free enterprise wasn't exactly what His Honor the Mayor of Bartlesville had in mind.

Even more revealing was a private letter to Indianapolis Mayor Clark from his fellow Hoosier, Mayor Robert Meyers of Fort Wayne, also a Republican.

"I have been informed by Mr. Hansel Smuts of the Standard Oil Company, South Bend, that you are testifying before the Senate commerce committee in favor of the bill to exempt producers of natural gas from federal regulation," wrote Meyers. "Once again I find myself opposed to one Clark and in favor of the other. Naturally, you know which one I am referring to as opposing."

He was opposed, of course, to Mayor Clark of Philadelphia. "Jack Scott and I missed you at Las Vegas," added the Fort Wayne mayor confidentially. "I even got back with my shirt on, though I did perhaps leave my tie and socks."

Among the mayors who strangely went along with the oil lobby were Arthur Walz of Wilmington, Del.; Carl Wise of Canton, Ohio; Arthur Meehan of Spokane, Wash.; Robert Morgan of Peoria, Ill., and several other Hoosier mayors. The strange fact is that these mayors represent cities whose consumers

Advice on Health

Rest, Diet Ward Off Prickly Heat

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Prickly heat is a common summertime complaint of both children and adults.

This red skin rash develops when you sweat profusely and the sweat ducts become blocked by horny plugs. Frequently it itches. The rash is mostly likely to break out where you perspire freely, such as the bends of your elbows, your waistline and the front and sides of your chest.

Light Clothing
If you've had prickly heat previously, you should take special precautions against getting it again. In warm weather wear light, loose clothing. Get plenty of rest and avoid foods which stimulate and heat you, such as spices and alcohol. It would be very helpful if you could spend much of your time in an air-conditioned room or office, but this, of course, isn't always possible.

You'll probably relieve mild cases with dusting powders, cornstarch or baby talcum. More severe cases may require solutions like 4 per cent salicylic acid and 1 per cent each of glycerin and menthol dissolved in 95 per cent alcohol. But your doctor will prescribe the proper medication for your individual case.

Cool Baths
Cool baths may also be soothing. There are several ways of preparing them. Mix 1 cup of powdered starch or oatmeal to a tub of water. Or boil a pound of starch in two quarts of water. Add a teaspoonful of a 25 per cent alcoholic solution of menthol and pour the mixture into a cool tub.

Don't use soap on the affected areas, if you're troubled with prickly heat. In severe cases, ice packs and x-ray treatments are helpful for adults, but not for babies.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
I.C.: I am handicapped from meningitis and have also lost my hearing. Is there a possibility that my hearing will be restored?

Answer: It is quite unlikely that loss of hearing due to meningitis could be overcome. As a general rule, hearing loss in such cases is due to brain injury or injury to the hearing nerve. As yet no successful treatment for such conditions has been found.

Tavern 'Holdup Man' Caught in the Act

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Police Capt. Allan Relyea followed up an excited housewife's tip yesterday that a masked man was holding up the customers in a tavern. Relyea burst into the tavern and found the grinning patrons watching Jack McLaren as he showed his 2-year-old niece Sherry Boos how to rob a stage with her new Davy Crockett gun.

United Auto Front on Bargaining Unlikely

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Walter Reuther made the auto giants squirm by tackling them separately. They're so competitive they'd probably rather continue to squirm separately than work together to block Reuther.

Henry Ford II suggested this week the auto makers should force Reuther into industrywide bargaining so he'd have to deal with them all at the same time.

Dairy Barn Holds Life, Death Drama

By HAL BOYLE

LONG VALLEY, N. J. (AP) — It was an ordinary Sunday outside the big cool dairy barn. The dressed up people from the city enjoyed the sunny countryside.

Inside the big cool dairy barn it was even more of an ordinary day. Cows have no Sunday. The daily drama of life and death among the herd went on unchanged except for one thing.

There was a young girl who saw the drama for the first time. The events of the day changed her, I am sure, forever.

The three cows involved were numbered 204 and 140 and 219—and the first was old and through, and the second was young and having her first calf, and the third was middle-aged and having maybe her third or fourth calf.

No. 204 was at the head of the barn and lying too weary to get up, with her head in its stallion. She was 14, very old for a cow. Her milk had pleased a thousand and distant children she had never seen. But now she lay there, unprotestingly, waiting for the slaughterer's truck to come and take her away.

Calf Delivered
During the morning No. 140, the young heifer, delivered her first calf after a rugged ordeal. Worn out by the struggle and oblivious to the responsibilities of motherhood, she wandered away from her sprawling weak tan calf.

A group of summer residents who came down to see the calf found that No. 219, the middle-aged cow, had taken up the duties of the confused young mother. She was carefully and methodically cleaning the sprawling calf with her tongue, as animals do. Suddenly it became apparent the middle-aged cow's own ordeal of maternity was at hand. One of the men turned to a young girl, his niece, and said:

"If you're going to get back to the city before the traffic ties you up, you'd better leave now."

"I've never seen anything born before," she said. "I want to stay."

"But it may be hours," he said. "You can't tell. A little while," she pleaded. "Then I'll be off."

Her uncle and the others left and the young girl was alone in the filtered light of the barn, sweet with the deep rich scent of hay and animal bodies. Old cow No. 204, a factory worn out, glanced at her with the idle and placid non-interest of age.

The young girl knelt beside No. 219. The miracle of approaching birth made the two one. She knelt her fingers and tugged at them tensely in unconscious rhythm with the laboring cow.

"Please," she whispered. "Try again, harder."

All at once they were three—or almost three. The calf was half-born. Then something was wrong. "Please, please, please!" cried the girl. She heard a noise. Two dairy hands had come into the far end of the dairy barn.

"Quick!" she cried. "The calf is strangling!"

Farm Obstetrics

The two men ran up. One grabbed a rope. With it they completed the rough obstetrics of the farm, and the calf was delivered, its forehooves raised, its muzzle in the posture of prayer.

The calf lay there—warm, wet and motionless. One workman bent and wiped its muzzle to clear the nostrils, then massaged its ribs in an attempt at artificial respiration. The calf lay still.

"But I saw its eyes move," said the girl. "If I could have called you in time—"

The rough workmen looked up at her, puzzled. A calf is $20, more or less, and they come often on a big dairy farm.

"I don't think so," said one of the men, not unkindly. "These things happen, you know."

As one of the men dragged the dead calf away mother cow No. 219 let out a bellows of anguish that had a human ring of despair in it, and crashed into a chain barrier. She wandered about wildly for a moment, then lowered her

General Motors made no comment but reportedly is opposed to Ford's idea. Reuther, the CIO auto workers' president, said his union was against it.

If the auto makers, under Ford's industrywide bargaining plan, balked at some future demand of Reuther and his union struck, all plants would be shut down simultaneously with no company having a competitive advantage over another.

As it is now, with company-by-company bargaining, one after the other, Reuther can play off one against the other. He has done it consistently, and again this year in his negotiations with Ford and GM.

Heat on Ford First

He put the heat on Ford first, Ford, in the greatest race of its history to outsell GM's Chevrolet, could ill afford a strike while GM was left free to pump out Chevrolets. Ford signed up. This put GM over a competitive barrel.

If it balked at Reuther's demands—the same ones he made on Ford—and forced a strike, it would not only lose out in the Chevrolet race against Ford but would lose on the sales of its other cars. It signed up in short order.

The most sensational issue in the two negotiations was the guaranteed layoff pay, which Reuther calls a guaranteed wage, and which the companies themselves refer to as supplemental pay for laid-off workers.

Unemployment Pay
The companies agreed to give any of their employees thrown out of work some pay for a maximum of 26 weeks to supplement state unemployment benefits.

It's just possible—judging from what GM's Vice President Harry W. Anderson said, although his words were ambiguous—that GM might have balked at the guaranteed layoff pay, even if it meant a strike, if Ford hadn't first agreed to it.

After the GM negotiations Anderson told Reuther: "Walter, we had a lot of disagreements in there . . . but I do want to congratulate you on your judgment in going somewhere else (to Ford) first to get it (the guaranteed layoff pay)."

But in this period of prosperity and record-breaking car sales, perhaps GM would have caved in to Reuther if he had tackled it first instead of Ford. Neither company said it couldn't afford to meet Reuther's demands.

GM might have struggled harder to give less than Ford agreed to but probably not hard enough to cause a strike. What they gave Reuther was far less than he demanded.

Transatlantic Move Of GIs, Families To Start July 2

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army plans to start July 2 the transatlantic movement of some 35,000 soldiers and about 10,000 of their wives and children — with half heading for Germany and the other half for Kansas.

Involved is the rotation to Ft. Riley, Kan., of the 1st Division and its simultaneous replacement in Germany by the 10th Division, now at Ft. Riley.

The Army said yesterday the operation—described as the biggest peacetime movement of its kind—would take weeks.

The married soldiers will travel with their families in cabin-equipped vessels of the Military Sea Transport Service. The Army will ship furniture and automobiles for those who want to take them along.

head and again began licking the living calf of cow No. 140, the bewildered young heifer who hadn't yet risen to the chores of motherhood.

The young girl got into her car. "But I saw its eyes move," she said, half crying. "If I could have just—"

She turned the car and headed it toward the city. She had seen the sadness of death taking life at the portal of death, and she would always remember this Sunday, just another ordinary day on a busy farm.

BEDTIME STORIES

By HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggily was running behind a chair so he could not see very well. "What is chasing you, Daddy?" asked Etisco. "Is it one of the Bad Chaps?"

"No, it isn't a Bad Chap," replied the rabbit gentleman. "It is your toy engine that you thought some one took."

"How could my toy engine be chasing you, Daddy?" Etisco wanted to know. "I thought some one took my engine."

"No one took your engine, Etisco," the rabbit uncle answered. "I was looking for it under one of the chairs, for I was sure it had run off the tracks and was hiding some place in the playroom. And I was just kept on running around and around."

"What is chasing you, Daddy?" asked the little rabbit boy. He was running around and around. Now, as Etisco looked out from behind the chair, he could see his little toy engine chasing his father.

"Oh! Oh!" exclaimed Etisco, much surprised. He hid behind the chair again. "Why do you think my engine is chasing you, Daddy? You never did anything to my toy engine, did you?" the little rabbit asked.

"I only bought it for you," said Mr. Longears. "And that is no reason why it should chase me! But that's what it is doing!"

That is exactly what Etisco's toy engine was doing — chasing Uncle Wiggily, as truly as I am telling you! Believe me, if you please.

"Is there anything I can do, Daddy, to help you?" asked Etisco from back of the chair.

"If your engine would mind you when you called it, as you might call your dog to come back, that might help," answered Uncle Wiggily. "You might try it, Etisco. This is such a funny thing to happen — that something else funny might stop it. Just call to your engine, Etisco, and ask it to stop chasing me!"

"I'll do that, Daddy!" promised the little rabbit boy.

"Does your engine have a name, Etisco?" asked Mr. Longears.

"Oh, yes, my engine is named Puff!"

"Then please call Puff and ask him to stop chasing me," said Mr. Longears. Etisco's engine was not an electric one. It was the sort that runs around on a track when the engine's spring is wound up. "Call Puff!" shouted Mr. Longears.

All this time the rabbit gentleman was running and hopping around and around the playroom, with the toy engine chasing after him. Sometimes Mr. Longears would duck under a chair. But the engine seemed able to find him and also chugged and puffed its way under the chair, chasing the rabbit gentleman out.

"Call Puff! Call Puff!" shouted Uncle Wiggily to Etisco.

"Here Puff! Puff! Puff!" called the little rabbit boy. "Stop chasing my Daddy! Stop it, Puff!" But Puff didn't stop.

"You must have wound the spring of your engine extra tight, Etisco!" said Uncle Wiggily as he crawled under a couch and then crawled out again because Puff was still after him. "You must have wound it extra tight, Etisco!"

"Yes, Daddy, I guess I did. But it will come unwound soon."

"I hope so!" exclaimed Mr.

Longears. Then, suddenly as he hopped from back of a table he exclaimed: "Oh! Oh!"

"What's the matter?" asked Etisco. "I have been bumped!" exclaimed the rabbit gentleman. More to morrow if the comb doesn't chase the brush all around the bathroom so the rubber doll falls into the tub and gets her hair so wet that she can't braid it into a pigtail.

TODAY Defense Department Changes

By JOSEPH ALSP
WASHINGTON — It is now confirmed that the able under secretary of defense, Robert Anderson, will shortly return to private life. At long last, moreover, the secretary of the Army, Robert Stevens, is due to return to his family textile business.

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, has offered the under secretaryship to the secretary of the Air Force, Harold Talbott; but Talbott has refused this promotion on the ground that the Air Force commands his first loyalty. So far as is known, therefore, no final decision has been made on the replacements for either Anderson or Stevens.

Ordinarily, such news of shifts at the second level of the administration would have no very shattering significance. In fact there is no great significance in the prospective departure of Army Secretary Stevens. He is an amiable but remarkably dim figure, and it was a conspicuous irony of history that he should have been catapulted into a spotlight that only served to illuminate his dimness.

The retirement of Under-Secretary Anderson, on the other hand, has a meaning out of all proportion to his rank, for several different reasons. In the first place, it will deprive the defense department of by far the ablest and most courageous civilian officer now operating in the field of general defense policy.

Chief Will Stay
In the second place, it will disappoint a rather passionately cherished hope in the armed services. That hope was, very simply, for the departure of Defense Secretary Wilson, and his replacement by his far more lucid and defense-minded subordinate. There was a time when this shift appeared to be on the cards; and there seems to be some reason to think that Under-Secretary Anderson was really staying on in the expectation of this shift, and has now decided to go because it has become clear that his chief will stay.

In the third place, and most important of all, the departure of Anderson removes any lingering doubts that may still exist about the Eisenhower administration's order of policy-priorities. Anderson always challenged the policy-priorities established by the treasury and the budget bureau and approved by the White House.

Secretary Wilson, on the other hand, in effect operates as a treasury representative within the defense department. He wholeheartedly believes that it is his duty to think about tax cuts, second about balancing the budget, and about the defense of the United States as a very poor third. He and the treasury secretary, George Humphrey, form a working partnership in which Humphrey is the guiding spirit.

Job for Humphrey
By a remarkable combination of great force of character and great personal charm, Secretary Humphrey long ago attained a unique position of influence and power in the Eisenhower administration. Humphrey's views on policy-priorities would be hard for any secretary of defense to challenge, even if the defense secretary were also a strong-charactered man who was determined to enforce the more normal rule that the urgent requirements of national security have first call on the national resources.

Secretary Wilson, on the other hand, has no desire whatever to challenge Secretary Humphrey. He wholly sympathizes with the Hum-

Graham's Revival In Germany Off To Flying Start

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Billy Graham's revival series in Germany got off to a flying start last night before a crowd of 30,000 in a Frankfurt football stadium.

An estimated 1,500 persons—including some American servicemen—answered the American evangelist's call for "decisions for Christ."

The arena was one third full. The crowd was considerably smaller than those which attended open-air meetings Graham held earlier this year in Scotland and England, but huge compared to those who turned out for his recent one-week series in Paris.

Pastor Martin Niemöller, famous German evangelical leader interned by Hitler during the war for defying Nazism, closed the meeting with a prayer.

Graham told his audience, "We listen to politicians. We listen to diplomats. We listen to philosophers. Now let's listen to Christ."

He urged his listeners to spend more time reading the Bible and thinking more about religion.

"Don't go away thinking of Billy Graham," he said. "Go away thinking of Jesus Christ."

Lumpy-Looking 'Women' Prove to Be Bandits

SOLANO, Sicily (AP) — Six lumpy-looking "women" with shawls over their heads boarded a rural bus yesterday at a stop outside Solano.

Once aboard they pulled guns from under their dresses, and robbed the 30 other passengers.

The disguised bandits left the bus and stopped another a few minutes later in the same way. It had 16 passengers aboard.

From the 46, the bandits got 250,000 lire (about $400) and jewelry.

phrey view that taxes and budgets are the really worrying problems—far more worrying, indeed, than anything so remote as the Soviet bid to take world air leadership from the United States. This is the ex officio view, of course, of all treasury secretaries and chancellors of exchequers.

The greatest tragedy of this administration, very probably, is that Secretary Humphrey did not get the defense department. If it were Humphrey whose nose, so to speak, was being daily rubbed in the grim realities of our deteriorating strategic situation, the position today would be very different. For all Humphrey's power and persuasiveness would now be in action to assure an adequate defense, instead of being in action to assure more tax cuts which in turn assures the purchase of more ermine-lined Cadillacs.

As matters stand, however, with Robert Anderson leaving the defense department and Charles Wilson staying on, the outlook is rather easily predictable. There will be change in the tempo of the present defense effort, which so exactly recalls the defense effort organized for Neville Chamberlain by Sir Kingsley Wood.

There may even be further defense cuts. The treasury secretary is determined to give the taxpayers another round of presents in 1953. These election year goodies can only be financed by hacking a bit further into the musculature of the armed services. Altogether, against the background of the Moscow overflights, it is a reasonably disquieting outlook.

Bridges' Accuser Faces Questioning

By KATHERINE PINKHAM

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — David L. Saunders, chunky ex-Communist, today faces cross-examination on his labeling of labor leader Harry Bridges as a member of the powerful Communist Central Committee in 1936.

Saunders testified Bridges once paid Communist party dues to him personally by slapping three silver dollars on his desk.

Australian-born Bridges is defendant in a civil action brought by the government seeking to cancel his citizenship. The government says he concealed Communist connections when he obtained it in September 1945.

Bridges testified Monday he never was a Communist.

The suit is considered a prelude to new deportation proceedings.

Saunders, a former port captain, testified brusquely and with positive manner. He said he was himself a Communist for 10 years—1935 to 1945, and in 1936 was district organizer for the party in California, Utah and Hawaii.

He testified: In those years Bridges attended important closed meetings of the Communist party . . . In 1936 the national Communist convention in New York elected Bridges, who was not present, a member of the Central Committee. Bridges' alias was Comrade Rossi.

Bridges was chosen to recruit Harry Hook, then a lodge business agent of the AFL machinists, into the party. Saunders gave names and dates with exactitude. He is now operations manager here for NYK, a Japanese steamship line.

Preliminary cross-examination by Bridges' attorney Richard Gladstein brought out that Saunders was screened from the waterfront here as a security risk for a time, but was cleared after he testified for the government in a trial of 14 alleged Communists in Los Angeles in 1952.

Bridges denied on the stand that he ever used the name Rossi "even in a joking way," and said he had never been inside the New York headquarters of the Communist party.

He "didn't recall" whether he tried to recruit Hook into the Communist party when Hook was leading a machinists' strike.

New York City Real Estate Tax Goes Up

NEW YORK (AP) — The City Council has set a basic real estate tax rate of $3.85 for each $100 of assessed valuation—the highest in the city's history—for the 1955-56 fiscal year. The new rate is 17 cents above the current year's. The council adopted the rate yesterday by a vote of 24-1.

Five Sought in Italy Not Wanted For N.Y. Robbery

NEW YORK (AP)—New York City police say four men and a girl sought in Italy are not wanted here in connection with the $305,243 holdup of the Woodside, Queens, branch of the Chase Manhattan Bank last April 6.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Thomas P. Cullen of Queens said yesterday he had become interested in at least some members of the group because of "certain information and rumors."

They have been investigated, he added, and "we have come to the conclusion that they are practically cleared of suspicion."

Cullen, who did not name the individuals, said one man is a respected Queens businessman, another is a New York City civil servant and a third is a federal employee.

Cullen told newsmen that he knows little about the fourth man or the girl, who might have joined the others in Canada or on board a ship.

Deputy Police Commissioner Richard A. Dougherty said twice yesterday in response to queries that the Police Department had made no request to any authorities about the five in Italy. Three of them originated from New York City.

Word came from Rome that police had spread a net throughout Italy for the five in connection with the Queens holdup—the biggest cash haul in a bank robbery in U. S. history.

In Italy the five were identified as:

Giuseppe Michael de Tacco, also known as John di Tacco, 37, New York.

John Timothy O'Connell, 35, New York.

Daniel William MacGuire, 28, New York.

Peter Jerome Kirdam, 34, Manchester, England.

Janette Forest, 27, Montreal, Canada.

European Expert To Speak at TC

Dr. Harold C. Deutsch

Dr. Harold C. Deutsch, a member of the faculty of history at the University of Minnesota, will speak at Sorenson Hall auditorium, Winona State Teachers College, at 10:40 a.m. Thursday. The address is open to the public.

Dr. Deutsch has specialized in modern European history with particular emphasis on World War I and its implications on recent developments.

During World War II, he was a commentator on war news over a Minneapolis radio station. In 1943, he entered government service as an expert on Western Europe.

He first directed research on the European axis for the Board of Economic Warfare until he was transferred to the OSS in charge of political research on Europe, Africa and the Near East. He directed staffs in Washington, London and Paris, and was later named chief of research for the OSS in occupied Germany and directed what was then Gen. Clay's only research staff.

In August 1945 Dr. Deutsch was lent by OSS to the State Department as counsel for the special investigation of important Nazi leaders in the investigation of Hitler's foreign policy.

Since the war, Dr. Deutsch has been teaching at the university, although he has twice been called by the government to serve as director of studies for Western Europe at the National War College.

Duke Touches Off Scare as Plane Is Forced to Land

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP)—The Duke of Edinburgh touched off a scare today when his helicopter failed to keep a rendezvous with the royal train. Later it was learned he made a safe landing near Edinburgh.

Bad weather forced his aircraft down.

He took off from Turnhouse Airport at Edinburgh to meet Queen Elizabeth 40 miles away, aboard the royal train at Uddingston, just outside Glasgow.

The train waited but no helicopter landed at the field alongside the track. Frantic police calls went out to all stations along his flight path.

The air-minded Duke was found safe. He had landed outside Edinburgh shortly after taking off. He sent a message to the Queen saying he would complete the journey in a police car. The Queen's train went on into Glasgow to pick him up here.

An experienced airplane pilot himself, the Duke was flying as a passenger in a Royal Air Force Dragonfly helicopter piloted by an RAF officer.

The royal couple are making a series of appearances in Scotland before leaving on the royal yacht Britannia tonight for a three-day state visit to Oslo, Norway.

Iraq King Starts For Turkish Visit

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—King Faisal II flew to Beirut, Lebanon, today on the first leg of a journey to Turkey for a five-day state visit. The Turkish and Iraqi governments recently signed a mutual defense pact.

The young king, accompanied by his suite, will board the royal yacht at Beirut for the rest of the trip.

After the state visit he will tour the Mediterranean, then visit in Switzerland, France and Britain until mid-October.

McCarthy Concedes Defeat in Move to Expose Russ Rule

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) conceded today he has "no chance of success" in efforts to win Senate approval of a resolution aimed at forcing discussion of Russia's satellite states at the Big Four talks.

A 14-0 vote by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee last night to recommend rejection of the proposal apparently foreshadowed an overwhelming tally against it on the Senate floor. It had the united opposition of the administration and of Republican and Democratic leaders in the Senate.

Committee members generally agreed adoption of the resolution might tend to tie the President Eisenhower's hands in talks with the Premiers of Great Britain, France and Russia opening July 18 at Geneva.

Sen. Barkley (D-Ky.), a member, said approval of the resolution would leave Eisenhower "with both hands tied behind his back and his tongue locked in his teeth."

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the majority leader, denounced the resolution as an effort to "place a loaded gun at the President's temple." The Republican leader, Sen. Knowland of California, told McCarthy he was seeking to intrude on "an executive function." McCarthy replied that the Senate has a right to advise the President.

McCarthy told newsmen in advance of debate the committee decision was "disappointing" and a "great blow to the peoples in the satellite states" of Eastern Europe, North Korea and elsewhere.

His resolution would express as the sentiment of the Senate that the United States should get prior approval of Russia to discuss the question of liberation in the satellite nations. Barring such approval the resolution would in effect put the Senate on record as opposed to any Big Four conference.

McCarthy said, however, that "maybe we could get a resolution that didn't appear to tie the President Eisenhower's hands but would express the sense of the Senate."

Both Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have repeatedly indicated they will attempt to bring the question of "liberation" of the satellite areas into the big four conference.

WEBER TO CHATFIELD

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special)—William Weber, son of Dr. and Mrs. Frank T. Weber, Arcadia, who was graduated from the School of Mortuary Science at the University of Minnesota, is leaving at Chatfield, Minn., where he will be employed at the Boetzer Funeral Home and Furniture Store. He previously taught for three years in Chatfield before attending the university.

'Wild' Gas Well Capped After Week

RENOVO, Pa. (AP)—One of the nation's largest natural gas wells capped late yesterday, ending the fear of death and destruction that hovered over this area since the well exploded last week.

The "wild one" was quieted by Paul (Red) Adair, oil and gas well troubleshooter from Houston, Tex., and a nerveless team of 16 others who knew one accidental move might be their last.

As the 3,000-pound cap was maneuvered by a crane over the well head, Adair jammed a bolt through matching holes. That provided a pivot for the cap to be swung through the tremendous pressure of the flowing inflammable gas and for other bolts to be placed.

Then Ed Ingram, production superintendent for the New York State Natural Gas Co., turned a valve wheel that cut the roaring gas to a whisper and finally to silence.

The well cap blew off last Wednesday because of a faulty gasket.

Adair said. The next day the gas, flowing at an estimated 200 million cubic feet daily, exploded, injuring 10 workers.

Adair, working at the core of the fire which melted down a tractor, placed and set off 300 pounds of nitroglycerin to snuff out the fire last Saturday. Then the crew carefully began scooping out a trench close to the well so that Adair and Ingram could place themselves for the final effort.

There was no immediate estimate of the loss.

Bombings Continue In Cyprus Unrest

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Pro-Greek Cypriots exploded bombs at two points on this British colonial island in the eastern Mediterranean last night. It was the second successive night of such attacks.

One bomb, dropped in a police station mail box in Nicosia, killed a Greek bystander and wounded 13 other persons—2 Greeks, 9 Turks and 2 Armenians. The police station was damaged extensively.

A bomb explosion outside the home of a British brigadier did slight damage.

Caledonian Named By Iron Ore Group

ST. PAUL (AP)—For the third time, Sen. Thomas P. Welch, Buffalo, was elected chairman of the Commission on Iron Ore Taxation at the organization meeting Tuesday.

Other officers re-elected were: Rep. Fred Cina, Aurora, first vice chairman; Sen. B. G. Novak, St. Paul, second vice chairman, and Rep. Lloyd Duxbury, Caledonia, secretary.

The commission is composed of eight senators and eight representatives. It was created by the 1951 Legislature.

The commission originally was given an appropriation of $150,000 in 1951 and is operating with $40,000 of unspent funds.

Sen. Welch said the executive committee, composed of all the officers, will select a slate of committee members for presentation at the next meeting to be held subject to the call of the chairman. He said interested parties will be invited to give their views on iron ore taxes.

Owner of Japan's Biggest Paper Dead

TOKYO (AP)—Eisuke Fukuda, 75, president of Tokyo Shimbun and one of Japan's most colorful newspaper figures, died today of pneumonia.

His Shimbun, with a circulation of 800,000, is Tokyo's biggest evening paper and he was reputed to be one of Japan's richest men.

He was a textile weaver before he acquired in 1919 the Miyako Shimbun, then a favorite paper of geisha girls. It grew into one of the nation's most influential newspapers before World War II. Fukuda withdrew from active management when military forces forced a merger with the nationalist Kokumin Shimbun in 1942.

After Japan's surrender he again took control of Tokyo Shimbun. Under the Allied occupation the paper was designated the only afternoon newspaper for the whole Tokyo area.

New Floor Care Ends Waxing

One of the difficult jobs of housekeeping is to wax linoleum and asphalt tile floors. Now, thanks to Glaxo, it's no longer necessary to wax and scrub; just apply Glaxo about twice a year. It maintains a high lustre, non slip coating that seals out dirt. Glaxo dries in one hour and is water clear. It's cheaper than wax in the long run, besides saving a terrific amount of work, plus truly a beautiful floor.

Steel Industry Moves Closer To Wage Offer

PITTSBURGH (U)—The booming steel industry moved another step closer today to a definite wage offer of 600,000 steelworkers will strike.

Three of the industry's top producers have promised a wage hike. They haven't said yet how much. Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. and Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. scheduled resumption of wage talks today with the CIO United Steelworkers.

The three producers who committed themselves this week to pay increases are U. S. Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel Corp. and Republic Steel Corp.

The steelworkers, who now earn an average $2.33 hourly, will be free to strike at midnight June 30 if no agreement is reached.

U. S. Steel is expected to spell out its offer either tomorrow or Friday. It usually is the pace setter of the industry.

David J. McDonald, president of the union, has said only that he wants a "substantial" wage boost.

The current talks are being held under a wage reopening clause of a two-year contract signed last June. Under that agreement, only wages can be discussed this year.

Both sides have expressed optimism about a settlement before the strike deadline. Most observers feel the union will agree to a raise of from 12 to 15 cents an hour.

Husband Identified As Wife's Slayer

LA JARA, Colo. (U)—A district attorney's investigator who committed suicide two days after his wife was killed has been identified by Conejos County officials as the slayer of 33-year-old Mrs. Virginia Armijo.

Only hours before an inquest in her death, Deputy Prosecutor Gordon Rowe said Jerry Armijo, 32, killed his wife early Saturday and later took his own life in remorse. Armijo had maintained his wife was shot down by unknown assailants as the couple stood near their home in this southern Colorado community.

The investigator was found fatally wounded in the bedroom of his home early Monday. Rowe said he had shot himself in the head and left a note. Its contents were not revealed.

Rowe said testimony from witnesses and neighbors led to his official declaration of murder and suicide.

Experts say the safest way to remove a fishhook which has become embedded in your flesh often is to force the point out through the skin and cut off the barb with a sharp pliers.

U.N. Admission Problem May Be Near Agreement

SAN FRANCISCO (U)—A long stalemate over admission of new members to the United Nations may be nearing a solution — with Russia's agreement.

Diplomats reported last night that Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov was agreeable to the admission of three non-Communist and three Communist nations.

The first three were said to be Austria, Italy and Finland and the latter three Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria.

Russia previously has held out for a package deal involving 14 of the 21 countries currently applying for membership—including some Red nations that have failed to obtain a majority vote in the Assembly.

The basis of last night's reported agreement would be that the six nations have signed peace treaties with the big powers. Molotov reportedly said Japan could enter under the same formula when and if she signs a peace treaty with Japan.

N.Y. Man Starting New Family at 85

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (U)—Gabriele Cicala, who has already raised a family of 10 children, aged 38 to 53, has started anew at the age of 85.

Cicala, a retired farmer, remarried after the death of his first wife seven years ago. Yesterday his second wife Venera, 33, gave birth to a seven-pound boy.

"I'm still full of pep," said Cicala.

There's Still an Awful Lot of Tea in Japan

TOKYO (U)—Pour that story back through the tea leaves again, folks. Something was left out the first time.

A Tokyo dispatch June 14 said the Japanese are drinking more coffee than their traditional green tea.

Well, it's true enough—but only in the nation's booming coffee shops.

A new look at the figures shows this is just a drop—well, maybe a spoonful—in the nation's teacup. Counting farm, home and coffee shops, here are the annual Japan totals in pounds:

Black tea: 2,400,000
Coffee: 5,000,000
Green Tea: 120,000,000
That's a lotta tea.

The American Red Cross has nearly two million volunteer workers.

Famous N.Y. Trial Lawyer Succumbs

NEW YORK (U)—Lloyd Paul Stryker, one of New York's foremost trial lawyers, who handled the defense at the first trial of Alger Hiss, died yesterday of a cerebral hemorrhage. He was 70.

Stryker was renowned for dramatic and clever courtroom techniques long before he won national attention at the 1949 Hiss trial. In that case he got a hung jury.

For reasons that Hiss never explained, Stryker did not defend him in the second trial. Hiss, a former State Department official, was convicted of perjury and sent to jail for five years.

Regarded as a master of cross-examination, Stryker was the author of several law books. He was born in Chicago and had practiced law in New York since 1909.

He is survived by his wife Katherine and a married daughter.

Marie McDonald Remarries Allergy

HOLLYWOOD (U)—Actress Marie (The Body) McDonald has remarried her favorite allergy.

Her mother said yesterday that Miss McDonald phoned to say that she and her ex-husband, shoe manufacturer Harry Karl, were married a week ago in Yuma, Ariz.

After their Las Vegas, Nev., divorce last November the shapely actress said that she was allergic to Karl. "When I am with Harry I get sick," she said.

Twelve days later they decided to get married again. They tried five times in Europe and Africa but were blocked by technicalities. When they got back to Hollywood in January Marie said the wedding plans were all off.

Then yesterday Mrs. Marie Tuboni said they were married again. She said her daughter didn't mention when they would get back to Hollywood. She said she didn't mention the allergy, either.

This has been a record year so far for automobile manufacturing. Next, we're wondering what the production of new parking spaces will be.

Eden Denies Malayan War 'Troop Practice'

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Eden's government furiously rejected opposition suggestions last night that the war in Malaya is being drawn out to provide battle training for British troops.

Colonial Secretary Lord Lennox-Boyd called it "an unworthy suggestion—almost criminally reckless."

"What has been going on in Malaya is part of a Communist conspiracy and not responsive to local treatment alone," he said, adding:

"In Singapore they are faced, as we are faced, with a strong Communist-inspired movement who are trying to get control of the trade unions and the Chinese medical students and are engaging in the most unbridled attacks on the police."

Some 30,000 British and colonial troops and over 200,000 police and home guards have been battling Malayan Chinese guerrillas whose strength has never been estimated at more than 5,000.

Laborite Stan Awbery touched off the storm in the House of Commons when he said it appeared the Malayan war was no nearer ending today than it was when it started seven years ago.

"Are we accepting this as a training ground for our forces, because this is the impression of some people?" he asked.

Lennox-Boyd jumped to his

Jap Court Upholds Death Sentence For Labor Leader

TOKYO (AP)—In an 8-7 decision Japan's Supreme Court today upheld a death sentence for Keisuke Takeuchi, leftist labor leader convicted of sabotage deaths in the country's 1949 rail strike crises under American occupation.

Defense attorneys for Takeuchi, 34, said they would ask the court to review its decision.

About 500 Communists thronged around the court building although Takeuchi was not a party member. More than 200 specially mobilized police were on guard.

The only demonstration was a display of protest placards.

Takeuchi was specifically accused of deliberately starting an unmanned tram car in a runaway ride that killed six and injured 20 at the Mitaka marshaling yard in western Tokyo June 15, 1949.

In his prison cell, Takeuchi told Asahi reporters, "It's no use to fret now that the death sentence is upheld. I will try to be a good Buddhist."

feet to demand, "Tell me somebody who has expressed such a slanderous untruth."

Awbery began to say "it has been said" but his reply was drowned in a storm of protests.

"Probably I can get more details for the minister," he added when the shouting died down.

Lennox-Boyd then told the House he would visit Malaya and other Far East territories late next month. He said the situation in Malaya was improving.

Social Security Disability Freeze Effective July 1

Employers and the public generally are invited to help the Social Security Administration in its drive to locate all persons who may qualify for the "disability freeze," according to Philip A. Beardsley, district manager of the Winona social security office.

Employers who know of former employees who had to retire because of disability and the general public can help by notifying the social security office of disabled people.

"We are anxious to get as many leads as possible before July 1 on disabled people who may qualify," Beardsley said. "That's the date on which the disability freeze provisions of the amended Social Security Act of 1954 become effective."

"However, I would like to make a few things clear," Beardsley continued. "First of all, the disability freeze does not involve any actual payments for or because of disability. All it means is that payments people do receive at 65 or that survivors of deceased, disabled persons receive may be higher because of the fact that the time of disability does not count against them, as it used to. Second, the law about the disability freeze does not apply to anyone whose disability began when he was already 65 or older. The disability must have begun at least six months before a person reached age 65."

In addition, the disabled person must have been incapacitated for at least 6 months and he must have worked in employment covered by social security for 5 of the 10 years before the disability began. And at least 1½ of these years of employment must have been during the 3 years just before the disability began.

Any disabled person or anyone who knows of a disabled person who may qualify for the disability freeze should contact the Social Security office in the Winona Post Office building.

Woman President?
Perle Mesta Says No

TOKYO (AP)—Mrs. Perle Mesta, former U.S. minister to Luxembourg and noted Washington hostess, said today, "The United States is not ready to have a female president."

Mrs. Mesta, in a speech to the Foreign Correspondents Club, reported on other women:

Russian—"Amazons, big-boned, doing all the heavy work."

Japanese—"Wonderful, gay, charming, lovely."

Almanac Concedes It's Not the Only Weather Prophet

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—The famed John Baer Almanac, whose say-so is devoured as fact by a multitude of devotees, graciously conceded today that it isn't quite the only weather oracle in the game.

The 131st annual issue of the all-purpose guidebook gives the first hint in all those years that some other agency also could play the seer. In a limited way, of course.

The 1956 edition shatters tradition first by recognizing the existence of the U. S. Weather Bureau. What's more, it even suggests that the bureau be given more money to improve its services. Heretofore, the almanac has looked upon the Weather Bureau's activities as amusing but futile.

In giving ground slightly a second time, the almanac forsakes science for fancy. It tells readers to go looking for toads—the right kind may be a weather sign. If the toad is rusty brown, dry weather is in store. If it is very dark and mottled, get ready for a wet spell.

The most ardent of the almanac's partisans quickly dissociated themselves from what they termed a sign of weakness on Olympus. The sturdy Pennsylvania Dutch of this rich farm belt derided all the talk about weather bureaus and toads, and stood pat on the almanac.

As the almanac foresees it, the early months of 1956 will be unusually cold, with high winds and plenty of snow in the North. And here is the book's forecast for August of next year, when the two major political conventions will be held: high winds, squalls, tornadoes over wide areas.

Long-time residents of this southern region of Pennsylvania say that thousands of farmers and others live by the almanac, planting by the moon as it suggests, and taking its exalted counsel in many other ways.

As 1956 is Leap Year, the masterwork comes through with sharp advice to girls on how to make the most of the opportunity. One tip: Be demure, but roll the eyes, using subtlety.

Lest romance be withered, the book exhorts, "Eliminate that onion breath." And how? "Just don't eat onions."

Women who have landed husbands are told how to keep them. They are told also how to take care of their homes, their clothes. A suggestion: If the veil of your hat becomes limp and lifeless, press it between sheets of waxed paper. Better than that, get your husband to buy you a new hat.

Published in Lancaster, picturesque heart of the Pennsylvania Dutch country, Baer's almanac has an international distribution. Total circulation, it was reported, may run to 250,000.

Little Falls Tot Drowns in River

LITTLE FALLS, Minn. (AP)—The small son of a Little Falls clergyman drowned in the Mississippi River shortly after noon Tuesday when he slipped into the stream while playing.

The current swept Eric Winston, 5, away from the bank as Cordell, his 10-year-old brother, attempted a rescue by extending his feet into the water as a life line.

When Eric disappeared, Cordell rode his bicycle several blocks to his home to notify his father, Rev. L. F. Kluge, pastor of Zion Evangelical Lutheran Church. Police and firemen recovered the body about an hour later. The Kluges have two other children, Severin, 8, and Karn, 12.

WEAVER SCHOOL MEETING

Spring flowers and lighted candles decorated the church altars for the nuptial high mass.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin made with fitted lace bodice, high neckline and mandarin collar. Her veil fell from a crown of pearls and rhinestones. She carried a cascade of red and white roses.

Nancy Pedersen Wed in Ceremony At Plum City

DURAND, Wis. (Special) — The wedding of Miss Nancy Ann Pedersen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Pedersen, and Keith Charles Hei, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Hei, Plum City, took place at 9 a.m. June 11 at St. John's Catholic Church, Plum City. The Rev. Leonard Stieber performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace with fitted bodice and bouffant skirt. A crown of pearls and rhinestones held her veil of silk illusion. Her bouquet was of pink sweetheart roses and stephanotis arranged on a gold and white prayerbook. Penny Swanson, flower girl, wore a dress and carried a bouquet identical to the bride's.

Miss Darlene Lee, Iowa, was maid of honor in a floor-length gown of blue net over tulle with matching jacket and a crown of blue net trimmed with pearls. Blue carnations formed her colonial bouquet. Miss Carol Hei, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Gene Swanson, cousin of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. They wore identical gowns in pink and yellow respectively and carried carnations in matching color.

James Dettling, Plum City, was best man and Bernard Hei, brother of the bridegroom, and Gene Swanson were groomsmen. Ushers were Arnold Gilles, Plum City, and Max Kasser, Newport, Minn.

Miss Blanche Boehr and Miss Virgene Achenbach sang for the wedding.

The mother of the bride wore a dress of Persian turquoise lawn with a large white organdy collar and white accessories and the mother of the bridegroom, a pink nylon dress with pink accessories. Large white orchids made up their corsages.

A breakfast was served at the home of the bridegroom's parents for the wedding party and dinner at the home of the bride's parents for the immediate families. A reception also was held at the home of the bride's parents.

WSWS SPEAKERS

Lt. Carmon Callahan, Brainerd, Minn., and Lt. Eugene Harris, Atchinson, Kan., who were graduated and commissioned at the Salvation Army Training School in Chicago June 12, and who are spending a week with Capt. and Mrs. William Hall, who head the local Salvation Army, will be on the program together with Mrs. Hall, at the meeting of the WSWS of the Evangelical United Brethren Church in the church social rooms Thursday at 2:30 p.m.

ASIDES- By the Society Editor

St. Charles has popped into so many conversations I have had in recent weeks, that I'm going to pass on the interesting tidbits I have learned. Max C. Spittstoesser recently loaned me his copy of the history of St. Charles up to 1868, written by C. H. Slocum, pioneer editor and publisher in that town. First settler there in 1852, was Hiram Hill who had helped plat Minnesota City, become dissatisfied there and moved to the site of St. Charles. A society was organized to guarantee each member the right to claim and hold possession of 320 acres and an additional 40 acres of timber. An ambitious secretary of the association according to the Slocum history, sold a portion of his claim and then to make his total acreage "floated onto an adjoining piece of timberland, held under the laws of the society by another member."

During the time he was in Winona on business, feeling in the St. Charles area became heated, and "men in disguise took his wife and three small children by force in a sleigh to her father's house. They returned and took out all the valuables in the home and burned the house to ashes. They cut the timber on the timberland in dispute and divided it"—threatened two other residents who happened to see them, warning them not to appear in court against them.

First public inn actually in use in St. Charles, a log house, was the Wild Cat Tavern and for a sign, used a wild cat skin stuffed and mounted on a pole. It was the second house in the village started as an inn, the first having suffered disaster its first summer in July, 1855, when a tornado, rain and lightning struck the village, uprooted large trees, took the roof and top logs above the joist off the new inn, and deposited them some distance away. Beds and bedding and other furniture were blown up over the walls and away.

The first public dance was held in a blacksmith shop with three violinists furnishing the music. At the second, it is related that one of "the younger fry who professed to have taken lessons from the best masters of the age, moved on the floor so exquisitely that he excited the envy of a wag who pinned to the end of his swallow-tailed coat a white rag, that kept bobbing so gracefully and wagging so scientifically as to cause an outburst of merriment." Incidentally, the band for that dance came from Chatfield. Water power in those days was limited to mill use.

All the information about St. Charles started when Mr. Spittstoesser told of a huge cottonwood tree, brought from Illinois to St. Charles as a sapling in a covered wagon, and still standing on the Spittstoesser farm just outside of St. Charles. The tree is five or six feet through now.

St. Charles settlers apparently loved plants and flowers, for Mrs. George Christiansen who has about 70 roses in her rose garden, has one a dark rose, tea rose in type, which is a shoot of a rose brought from New York in pioneer days to St. Charles. In neighboring Lewistown a Christmas cactus was brought by the founding Lewis family from the east. The cactus is now in the possession of Miss Stella Halderman and boasts hundreds of blossoms each winter. It is as large as an umbrella and came to Miss Halderman when the Lewis family descendants who possessed it, moved to an apartment and had no space for a "cactus room" as in the old home.

Among Mrs. Christiansen's roses are nearly 70 varieties also, but a few being repeats of others. Among them are a Crested Moss, which variety dates back to 1827, and the Damask Rose which rode to the Crusades and back to England about 1573.

Back to St. Charles: The Honorable William H. Yale was among the speakers at a memorial service for James A. Garfield at the time of that President's death. Schools, business houses and homes were draped in mourning, church bells tolled at 2 p.m. and a procession of Masons and Odd Fellows marched, preceded by the St. Charles Band through the town. Minute guns were fired at sunset. A special Christmas hymn was composed for Trinity Church Sunday School at St. Charles back in 1880, and sung there Christmas eve of that year. Words

Girl Scout Camp Opens With 51 Attending

The Winona Girl Scout camp at Trempealeau opened its 1855 established camping season this week with 51 campers occupying the site for the first session which began Sunday.

Prior to the opening of the camp, staff members participated in a special training period during which preparations were made and program possibilities explored.

A camp development committee composed of a group of men volunteers was responsible for the work of readying the camp for the opening of the season. The work began early in the spring, and included general repairs and improvements to buildings and equipment, the construction of a new rack and a new fire ring for outdoor cooking, addition of convenience features to the unit kitchens, installation of a new well, setting up of two new tents and the siding of cabins.

John Epps is general chairman of the committee and John Tease and Rodger Lundberg were in charge of purchasing. Other committee chairmen are Victor Gislason, lodge; Stanley Hammer, grounds; Gordon Sill, barn; Norman Thingvold, unit kitchens; Jack Squires, cabin units; A. L. Kitt, equipment repair, and Wallace McDougall, tents.

Mr. Squires assisted by members of the local Eagles aerie, was in charge of the work of siding the cabins on the site.

Camp staff members not previously listed include Miss Brenda Baumann, Winona, student at Hamline University who will assist at the camp during the first session, and Miss Marilyn Nelson, St. Paul. Miss Nelson is a student at the University of Minnesota, and has had wide experience in camping. She will be on the camp staff from June 26 through Aug. 12.

Mondovi Recalls Napoleon

Mondovi's Main Street Looked like this more than 50 years ago with early electric lines visible and a farm family making their way to market in a buggy pulled by a team. This was before the advent of paving in this area and the deep ruts made by horse and wagon are clearly seen. Note the hitching posts at the curbs.

100th Birthday Celebration Starts Tonight

By EARL GILBERT
Daily News Area Editor

MONDOVI, Wis.—Where many cities have names from Indian lore, Mondovi has engraved her individuality by choosing hers from a Napoleonic war.

In other respects this individuality has asserted itself over the last 100 years and will be portrayed by pageant and exhibit during the centennial celebration tonight through next Sunday.

Since May 29, 1853, when Harve Farrington spent a night here fighting off wolves the fertile "Pancake Valley" has attracted settlers from many parts of Wisconsin and the nation until today Mondovi ranks as the largest town in Buffalo County with a population of 2,285 (1950 census), a city of the fourth class.

Economy Changes

Originally the level terrain of Pancake Valley attracted grain farmers and the local economy revolved around production of flour. Later it became noted for Percheron and Clydesdale draft horses and with the changing times has evolved into a first class dairying community with vegetable canning and railroad tie cutting lesser industries of the present day.

In other ways Mondovi has won acclaim for achievements of her citizens and is exemplary in community spirit and cooperation. The detailed planning of the centennial celebration is a fine example of this.

After the turn of the 20th century, one of Mondovi's baseball teams was cited by the Reach baseball yearbook as one of the nation's finest amateur aggregations. Following World War II the junior American Legion ball team won the state title and advanced to the quarter finals in national play.

An industry of nationwide importance had its beginning here in the mid-1930s and many of Mondovi's sons have served the state of Wisconsin politically. Grover Broadfoot, state supreme court

All of these highlights in the first 100 years of her life will be portrayed as part of a gigantic pageant starting Thursday and playing nightly from the fairgrounds infield here. Entitled "Mondovi's Turn Of The Century," the production has a cast of 300 including a chorus. Twenty-seven scenes will convey a colorful panorama of the early and present life of the community.

Earliest pioneers came from Dodge County in Southeastern Wisconsin in search of suitable farming acres. Three Farrington brothers and a fourth partner reached the Osseo area in late May 1855, apparently headed for Minnesota. Harve investigated Pancake Valley singly and spent the night of May 29 here "partly under and partly up in the pine tree" because of a pack of wolves which pestered him. His search satisfied him and he returned to get his companions and in early June they staked claims in this vicinity.

At first the community was called Farrington's. Later this was changed to Mondovi because one of its citizens was an avid newspaper reader. He was Elihu B. Gifford who was the lone newspaper subscriber in the town in 1858. The New York Ledger was sent to him and at the time it contained detailed accounts of Napoleon's Italian campaign. The name Mondovi, one of the Corsican's famous battle sites during the war, attracted Gifford and it was agreed to be suitable for this settlement. The name means "view of the world" and is found fourth from the top in the list of Napoleon's engagements in the Arch of Triumph, Paris, France. Gifford was among a group of Mondovians which left for the state of Washington in 1878 and he named the new community they founded in the Spokane area, Mondovi.

Warning of Indians
Shunning Indian names, the town in its infancy had little to do with the vanishing red man until Aug. 31, 1862, when it was reported that a band of Minnesota Indians was on the warpath headed toward the town from the Eau Claire area.

A small house owned by John Thompson, a blacksmith, was fortified by digging a trench about the top and standing high poles in the trench as a bulwark. Residents of Mondovi and the rural community flocked to it for shelter as the impending invasion was awaited. Sentinels were placed on high bluffs in the region to herald the approach of the savages.

However, the scare proved to be unfounded and the town went on living peacefully until a host of her sons joined ranks with the Union forces in the War of the Rebellion.

Of note is the early interest shown here in schools and churches, a trait which prevails to this day. Within two years of the founding of the city a school was in operation for citizens from a wide area. It was a rough board shanty on the John Heth farm, 1 1/2 miles southwest of town constructed in 1857.

First Minister
The first minister of the gospel arrived in the fall of 1856 from Alma. He was the Rev. B. F. Morse, a Wesleyan Methodist missionary. After the Civil War he became a Baptist and preached here for that denomination also. Three denominations—the Methodist, Baptist, and Congregational—worshipped together in the schoolhouse before the first church was built.

This was erected by the Methodists in 1865 with cash donations given by both the Baptists and Congregationalists making the new building possible. The Rev. Mr. Morse left here for Spokane in 1887.

Much of the early history of the town revolved around the Beef River which flows through here toward the Mississippi, reaching "the father of waters" just north of Alma at "Beef Slough."

Two mills were erected on its banks for grinding grain from surrounding fields into flour, and sawing and finishing lumber. Ponds formed by the mill dams provided recreation in both winter and summer. Floods of the Beef River often wrecked crops and property and on occasion, tore out sections of the dams.

One of the early mill operators worked long into the night and a historian recalls that the racket was a source of sleeplessness in the community, for which the mill operator was dully unpopular.

Other Industries
Other early industries included a sorghum mill, the Mondovi Brick Factory, and a cheese factory. By 1876 the town had 300 citizens; the first plat of the village was completed in 1858; the first newspaper was founded in 1876. Postal service was inaugurated from Durand by 1858, Robert Nelson being the first postmaster.

Medics arrived shortly after the war between the states, headed by Dr. Charles Hebard, Dr. C. R. Nelson and Dr. Simon Miller.

John W. Whalan was the first lawyer in Mondovi, arriving in the fall of 1876 fresh from a University of Wisconsin education and some practice in New Orleans and at Fort Worth, Tex. He started the first bank in the county, the First National Bank of Mondovi; was a state assemblyman and senator; helped erect the first brick building here; bequeathed the site of the Buffalo County fair to the city of Mondovi and was a prime mover for better schools and agricultural progress.

Wide Streets

Either by farsightedness or generosity with then cheap land, pioneers of Mondovi staked out wide streets, which in this day of intense travel are a definite asset to the community. The first passenger automobiles arrived in 1906, owned by Peter Ruplinger, O. J. Ward, Arthur Branstad, Tom Ward, L. H. Howard and E. H. Myers.

Earlier, however, the town in which Mondovi was located bonded itself to bring the Sault Ste. Marie and South Western Railroad from Osseo. This happened in 1889 and when Mondovi was incorporated as a city the same year it assumed the liability for the debt. Through an oversight, no appropriation was made for a payment due July 1, 1908, and the city became delinquent in its payments. A referendum was held and it was voted to issue new bonds for the payment rather than accept direct taxation.

In 1884 the first Buffalo County Fair was held in Mondovi after being originated between Alma and Fountain City. The town agreed to furnish suitable grounds for 10 years, construct necessary buildings and a race track and keep the grounds in good repair. In 1884 the fair was moved to the present area in west Mondovi.

First officers of the city elected in April 1889 were: B. S. Lockwood, mayor; R. Southworth, city clerk; R. Farrington, treasurer; W. L. Houser, judge; H. B. Pace and W. L. Standish, justices of the peace; S. K. Robinson and Charles Ford, 1st Ward aldermen, and S. K. Fisher and Jacob Canar, 2nd Ward aldermen.

A disastrous fire in June 16, 1891, destroyed seven stores in the main business district at a loss of $20,000.

The first strike by workers here, occurred in 1900 when men of the J. F. Brobst ice cutting crew walked off the job.

The first Catholic service ever held in Mondovi was conducted by Father O'Toole on Aug. 2, 1896. A 1,200-pound bell was placed in the tower of the old Catholic Church built the same year and John Fitzgerald played the Angelus at 7 a.m., noon and 6 p.m. His promptness became legend and people set watches and clocks by the chimes.

Later, when he threatened to quit because of the responsibility and time which he was donating gratis, the city decided to pay him wages to continue as bell ringer. The Mondovi Telephone Co. was incorporated in 1904 and 50 years later, last summer to be exact, dial phones were put into operation here.

Horse traders from far and near came to Mondovi to buy draft horses just after the turn of the century. Charles Harvey and W. L. Houser introduced the Percheron and Clydesdale lines in this community and the town became known for the quality of its horse industry. Livestock too was shipped in great quantity from here and at one time the local station of the Omaha Railroad shipped more livestock than any point on the Wisconsin branch of the line.

By 1905 the population was 1,450 and a Mondovi newspaper noted that year that the town had probably reached its maximum growth. But apparently most of the citizens didn't believe this and the city prospered with the rest of the nation prior to World War I.

In 1913, Dr. P. B. Amunson and the late Dr. William Lincoln instituted the first hospital here, later to become the present Gillette Hospital.

As the automobile replaced horses, Mondovi went along with the change, paved its streets and sidewalks. By 1930 the city had 5 1/2 miles of concrete streets, 5 miles of water mains and 5 miles of sewer lines. In 1939 the American Legion built the Mondovi swimming pool. Also in the 1930s Highways 10 and 37 were paved and soil conservation was inaugurated in the area by the Civilian Conservation Corps.

Other Changes

During the decade from 1935-1944, the Land O'Lakes Creamery was built here as were the following businesses: Neuheisel Lime Works; the Jackson Lumber Harvester Co. and several railroad tie and lumber mill companies including Madsen Lumber Co., John Wayne Tie Co. and the Bauer Lumber Co. The tie industry is still one of the leading businesses here.

Clinton D. Jackson built his first lumber harvester here in 1936 and by 1940 had five units in operation. After World War II he organized the Jackson Lumber Harvester Co. with a factory now located in Alabama and offices in Eau Claire. Units are used by the U. S. Army, South American, Canadian, African and Australian mining companies and recently by the Norwegian Army. His idea is to bring the sawmill into the woods and haul away finished lumber instead of rough logs.

With the return of her World War II veterans, Mondovi has experienced a building and growing boom which is still being felt. In 1943 Dr. F. J. Gillette purchased his present hospital site and has remodeled and extended this into the present Gillette Hospital.

Creameries Expand

Creameries here, both the Land O'Lakes and the Mondovi Creamery, have been enlarged and expanded in the last 15 years and at present process milk into butter, dry milk and cheese. Mondovi is the hub of the rich Western Wisconsin dairy industry and the canning factory here, which processes mostly beans, gives farmers another outlet for cash crops. It was remodeled in 1945.

Modern conveniences of living—purified water from a deep well driven through a system of mains; a sewage disposal plant which went into operation last summer; a modern high school and two public grade schools, five excellent churches, a golf course and parks—are a part of the Mondovi which is standing on the threshold of its second century.

Strike in 3rd Day At Peerless Beer Plant in La Crosse

LA CROSSE, Wis. — Strike of United Brewery Workers, Local 51, CIO, went into its third day today as union and management of La Crosse Breweries, Inc. continued at odds over interpretation of a contract provision.

This provision relates to the delivery of beer to retailers and consumers in La Crosse.

The union, in a statement, said meetings have been held with the company officials, asking them to reverse their decision on distribution, or to arbitrate the issue.

Management said the arbitration suggestion was only on the terms that the company resume production and local delivery with two union men on the trucks.

The brewery officials indicated that legal channels are available to iron out the present differences, without necessitating the hardship of a strike.

Between 50 and 60 union members work at the brewery, which makes Peerless Beer. In the past, local distribution had been handled by the brewery's own trucks, manned by union members.

The company, in hiring a local distributor three weeks ago, said the move was a necessary cost-saving measure. The picketing did not affect the larger G. Heileman Brewing Co.

Small Boat Safety Act Seen as Hope To Cut Drownings

ST. PAUL, Minn. — The small boat safety act passed by the 1953 Legislature was described by the president of the Minnesota Safety Council today as "the biggest advance in water safety of the century."

A. V. Rohweder commented on the act on the first day of summer, seeing in it a strong hope for curbing water deaths in Minnesota this year.

But, he cautioned, the new water code "may prove just another law unless it is backed up by public support and enforcement."

Among other things, the law provides that: Every boat under way must carry from sunset to sunrise a lantern or flashlight capable of throwing a light visible "all around the horizon at a distance of two miles or more."

It is unlawful to use a boat unless the craft is equipped with a stock factory muffler, underwater exhaust or other modern muffling devices.

No person can operate a motorboat within a water area clearly marked by buoys.

It is unlawful for any person under the influence of alcohol to operate any boat. It is further against the law for any boat owner to permit usage of his boat by persons under the influence of alcohol.

The law also makes illegal "careless or reckless" piloting on lakes and streams.

It imposes an obligation on any boat operator traveling head-on toward another craft to veer to the right and pass on the left side.

Any violation of the code becomes a misdemeanor.

"It is the first time that a comprehensive water code has been enacted for the operation of boats on inland waters of the state," Rohweder said. The act was based on preliminary studies made by Mrs. George Wells Jr., Duluth; Wheeler Van Steinburg, American Red Cross, Duluth; and M. J. Blaessy, Virginia, game warden.

Atom Smasher Slows Up Tuna Sandwich

PASADENA, Calif. — A visitor attending the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science meeting wondered why his tuna sandwich was taking so long to toast at the California Institute of Technology campus coffee shop yesterday. The manager explained, "That darned atom smasher here saps all the electricity and slows down the electric toaster."

Architects Told City Planners Necessary Now

MINNEAPOLIS — City planners have become vital necessities in today's world, especially in larger communities, says Miss Marcia Rogers of the Pittsburgh Regional Planning Assn.

The answer to a surging tide of blight is over-all, comprehensive community planning to prepare for the months and years to come, she told the American Institute of Architects at its 87th annual meeting. "Where space to spread was no problem, with the eagerness of youth, we wanted to build fast, settle rapidly and rush forward to new industry and bigger business," she told the some 1,500 delegates Tuesday night.

"When streets began to change character, those in the higher and middle income groups found it easier to move to a new house on the edge of the city or town. . . I think we are guilty of donning mental blindfolds in bewailing the disrepair and downhill slide of many a fashionable district."

Miss Rogers said World War II actually turned into a minor blessing for many heavily damaged European communities which were enabled to start literally from the ground up in city planning. She mentioned spacious parks, bedecked with fountains and monuments, now occupying centers of formerly crowded city centers.

Pursuing the same theme, Dean G. Holmes Perkins of the University of Pennsylvania said it was the first duty of architects "to put people back into the picture," in any mass planning.

"Shapes the community will take depend on public preference," Dr. Perkins said. "But without the architects' imagination, the citizen would be denied his rightful freedom of choice. . . if architects offer good choices, with beauty and efficiency, the somewhat capricious choice of citizens would result in variety where all men find satisfaction."

Gen. James A. Van Fleet, former U.N. commander in South Korea, told the architects their help was needed in a housing program for that nation. He said housing must be found for six million homeless South Koreans as well as four million refugees crowding that country.

For Best Pictures Submitted

This year marks the 100th Anniversary of The Daily News. In November you'll see what we believe will be one of the best anniversary editions ever published by an American newspaper. To make it "one of the best," we're staging a Centennial Edition Picture Contest in hopes that you will look into your attic and dig-up those old pictures that might be of interest to everyone in the Winona area.

We assure you that we will take the best possible care of your pictures while they are in our possession. Every picture will be encased in a special envelope properly filed with your name and address. At the end of the contest, we'll return your pictures to you by mail.

A guide to the kind of pictures we want and DON'T want is shown below.

WHAT WE WANT!

- Pictures relating to outstanding early local news events such as floods, fires, railroad and steamboat wrecks.
- Pictures of early Winona city and farm life, showing street scenes, early automobiles, horse cars, important buildings, etc.
- Pictures of individuals who were important in the pioneering and later development of the community.
- Pictures showing the wearing apparel worn by local men, women and children through the years.
- Pictures of Winonans who held important offices at the state and national levels.
- Pictures of Winonans who held important local offices—mayors, police chiefs, educators, etc.

WHAT WE DON'T WANT!

- Pictures of large groups of people such as graduating classes, etc., unless they are of outstanding historical value.
- Pictures found in old newspaper clippings. (While many of these might be interesting, it is virtually impossible to reproduce them for printing today.)
- Faded snapshots. In general, snapshots must show the subject in clear detail to be printable.
- Pictures printed in books, unless you are willing to clip them from the book. Some of these are printable and some are not. We suggest you show them to us before you clip them.
- Pictures in frames. It is impossible for us to reproduce pictures for printing unless they are removed from frames.

SPECIAL $25 AWARD

To first person who submits a reproducible picture of Captain Sam Whiting, first editor of The Republican!

CONTEST RULES

1. Send all pictures to CENTENNIAL PICTURE CONTEST, Winona Daily News. To assure proper care in the mail, guard your pictures with pieces of cardboard and mark DO NOT BEND on the outside of your envelope before mailing.
2. Using scotch tape, attach a slip of paper to the bottom of each picture you send and print the following information on it legibly:
 - a. Your name and address.
 - b. A brief description of the subject matter of the picture, identifying persons, places or events.
3. You may enter as many pictures as you wish.
4. The Daily News reserves the right to publish any pictures entered in the contest.
5. The deadline for entry in the contest is July 1, after which your pictures will be returned to you. The deadline is necessary since the various sections of the edition must be prepared in advance.
6. Contest winners will be announced in the Centennial Edition of The Daily News, to be distributed November 19.
7. Some pictures already have been received from persons and organizations. These will be automatically entered in the contest.

Internee Served As Stand-in for Churchill Statue

LONDON (AP)—That's the former prime minister's head on London's new statue of Sir Winston Churchill but the body belongs to a man interned as pro-German during both world wars.

Gerald Hamilton, 67, and also an author, disclosed today that he was the stand-in model for the bigger-than-life, seated bronze of the 80-year-old statesman unveiled in London's Guildhall yesterday.

"I must say the situation did strike me as a little strange," Hamilton told reporters. "But I was only the body. The statue is me only from the head down."

The model explained he has roughly the same measurements as Churchill, and even the famous stoop. Since the former prime minister's time was precious (and his patience on the short side), sculptor Oscar Nemon asked Hamilton to pose for the 60-odd sittings in which he worked on the body.

Hamilton was interned in World War I as a friend of Sir Roger Casement, the Irishman hanged for dealing with the Germans in the interests of Irish independence. The government put Hamilton under wraps again in 1941 for trying to organize a separate peace with the Germans.

"I'm not a Fascist or a Nazi," he said. "I just thought it was better to deal with the Germans than the Russians—and I still think I was right."

2 North Korean Fliers Quit Reds

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—South Korean air force sources said today the two North Korean fliers who landed an old Russian-built Yak fighter here made their quick decision to quit Communist Korea after they were airborne.

American and Korean intelligence officers still are questioning the two.

VOICE of the OUTDOORS

Gosh What a Big Fish!

Daddy's fish was somewhat of a whale in the eyes of Corneille Carney, 67, cautiously studying it in the above picture. The big carp speared by her father, Elmer Carney, 67, Winona St., tipped the scales at slightly over 30 pounds, making it a real giant of a jumbo in the lingo of commercial fishermen.

Thirty to 35-pound carp are not too common in the river today, according to Gus Seeling, veteran commercial fisherman. Carp, he adds, do run up to 50 pounds in the river. In their seining operations a couple of years ago, one was netted that weighed 48 pounds—largest one that Gus had seen taken out of the river in recent years.

Carp as large as 90 pounds—quite a minnow—have been reported in the United States. Minnesota's largest, one weighing 86 pounds, was taken from the Minnesota River in 1906. Since carp were not introduced in the state until 1880 the fish could not have been older than 25 years. Biologists state that carp weighing more than 30 pounds are a rarity. The largest from inland waters in recent years was a 48-pounder taken from Big Stone Lake.

Carp are probably the most important fresh water food fish in the world. Among those who still cherish old-world tastes, carp ranks with turkey as a holiday dish. In Europe, carp has long had this reputation. For more than 400 years it has been the principal crop of European fish ponds. Originally the carp came from Asia, likely Korea.

It was introduced in England in 1514—"Hops and turkeys, carp and beer came into England all in a year." United States Bureau of Fisheries planted disease-free carp secretly in 1870 in some waters of the United States. Practically since that time, like the imported English sparrow, carp has been a perpetual headache of every game and fish department in the land but the livelihood of most inland commercial fishermen. Several million pounds of Minnesota and Wisconsin carp go to the New York markets each year. Mississippi River carp is a premium fish on Fulton street,

Motor Boat Law
Among the laws enacted by the last Minnesota Legislature was the small boat safety act which states, in part:

"Boat means any vessel less than 26 feet in overall length used for transportation on or in water.

"Every boat when under way, shall carry on board from sunset to sunrise . . . a lantern or flashlight capable of showing a white light visible all around the horizon at a distance of two miles or more and shall display lantern in sufficient time to avoid collision with another boat. Sailboats, including those with outboard motors, under 26 feet in length . . . shall carry a bright white light to show all around the horizon. In addition, such boats when so propelled shall carry ready at hand a lantern or flashlight showing a white light which shall be exhibited in sufficient time to avert collision."

"It is unlawful to use a boat unless the same is provided with a stock factory muffler, under-water exhaust or other modern devices capable of adequately muffling the sound of the exhaust of the engine."

"Every operator of a motorboat shall at all times navigate the same in a careful and prudent manner and at such a rate of speed and along a course as not to endanger the life, limb or property of any person. It is unlawful to operate a motorboat in a careless or reckless manner . . ."

"When two boats are approaching each other 'head on' or nearly so, so as to involve risk of collision, it shall be the duty of each boat to bear to the right and pass the other boat on its left side. When boats approach each other obliquely or at right angles, the boat approaching on the right side has the right of way. One boat may overtake another on either side but must grant right of way to the overtaken boat."

"No person shall operate a motorboat within a water area which is clearly marked by buoys or some other distinguished device as a bathing or swimming area."

Air Conditioning Industry Raises Sights for Year

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Summer is perking up the hopes of the air conditioning industry after its shakedown earlier this year.

Estimates on this year's retail sales of central units for homes are being raised today by one of leading makers. He now says they'll be installed in twice as many houses this year as last.

Inventories of room coolers have been cut about 12 per cent—after considerable financial pain and some dumping. This price slashing helped retail sales in the off-season winter months climb 30 per cent over a year ago.

The Air Conditioning and Refrigeration Institute reports sales of window units are continuing at higher pace. And C. A. Tatum Jr., president of Dallas Power & Light Co., gives the Edison Electric Institute an estimate that in 10 years the air conditioning load on power lines will increase five fold.

Claud Wampler estimates this year's sales of window devices at 1,100,000 units, as against 900,000 last year. He says retail sales of central residential air conditioning equipment so far this year are almost double those of last year—150,000 units as against 75,000.

George S. Jones Jr., managing director of the Air Conditioning & Refrigeration Institute, says a prolonged hot spell won't be needed for the industry to sell more than a million unit sales of room coolers this year, because "they're no longer considered a luxury."

But no matter what industry leaders say about conditioners being a necessity rather than a hot weather luxury, want to be they aren't praying for a real sizzling spell soon?

Resolution Hits Freeman Action In Replacing Miller

NEW ULM, Minn. (AP)—Minnesota Spanish-American War veterans adopted a resolution Tuesday stating "we very much deplore" the action of Gov. Freeman in replacing Col. Ernest B. Miller with a political appointee as state Civil Defense director.

The resolution lauded Miller's efforts in establishing a "sound Civil Defense program" for Minnesota.

The veterans urged Congress in another resolution to extend further needed relief to widows of Spanish-American war veterans by increasing pensions to $75 a month.

James Clark, Fairmont, was elected Minnesota department commander. Irene Wood, St. Paul, was elected auxiliary department president.

Edward A. Erickson, Faribault, was named senior vice department commander and Arthur C. O'Brien, St. Paul, junior vice commander. Eula B. Heiman, Minneapolis, was named senior vice department commander of the auxiliary. Margaret Johnson, St. Paul, was elected junior vice department commander.

Milk Truck Goes Same Route Again

RIGBY, Idaho (AP)—Two months ago, Wayne Chivers, Jefferson County deputy, said a milk truck driven by T. A. Burt, of St. Anthony, Idaho, smashed into a bridge abutment near here after the driver apparently dozed at the wheel.

Just a few days ago the truck was replaced in service after being repaired.

Yesterday, Chivers said, it was the same story all over again.

The same driver, same truck, same bridge and even the same hour. Burt escaped injury in both wrecks.

Wisconsin Senate Raises Salaries Of State Officials

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The Wisconsin Senate Tuesday passed, 27-5, a bill increasing salaries of all constitutional officers and sent it to the Assembly.

The bill, introduced by the finance committee, would increase the governor's salary from $14,000 to $18,000 a year; the lieutenant governor from $7,500 to $10,000 every two years; the secretary of state from $8,000 to $10,000 annually; the treasurer from $8,000 to $10,000 a year; the attorney general from $10,000 to $15,000 a year and the superintendent of public instruction from $10,500 to $15,000 a year.

A bill by Leverich (R-Sparta) to add one member to the Conservation Commission which now has six members was killed by a voice vote.

The Senate advanced to within a step of final passage by voice vote a bill by Busby (R-Milwaukee) that would set up three committees that would study metropolitan programs. The present Milwaukee Committee of 21 would have statutory status under the bill.

Killed by a vote of 28-4 was a bill by Draheim (R-Neenah) that would provide for a referendum in the November, 1956 election which would have the people decide whether the state FM radio network and TV television experimental station be discontinued.

Police Admit Driver, Stop Light Both Weren't There

PETERSBURG, Va. (AP)—Police admitted here today there was a case of mistaken identity in last week's arrest of a man for stopping at a red light that wasn't there.

At the time, police identified a driver who stopped at a non-existent traffic light as Charles Henry Turner, 22, of Moberly, Mo. He was fined $100 and sentenced to 30 days for drunk driving.

Police Chief W. E. Traylor said today, however, he has received a letter from a Charles Henry Turner in Moberly, Mo., in which Turner said his car and credentials were stolen there early in May. He said he had been embarrassed because of publicity given the stop-light incident.

Traylor said the man arrested here now has given his name as James M. O'Connor of Chicago. He has been charged with suspicion of a felony and his case turned over to the FBI.

Chiefs Win Third Straight

Play 'Kato Tonight, At Austin Thursday

By RALPH REEVE
Daily News Sports Editor

The Winona Chiefs had a three-game winning streak going today and were looking for new fields to conquer after scoring a 6-3 victory over Bill Campau's Austin Packers before 1,648 fans at Gabrych Gardens Tuesday night.

The Chiefs won't have to look far for opponents to extend their victory skid. A makeup game is scheduled tonight at Mankato and a regular league game is on the books for Thursday night at Austin.

Tuesday night's game marked the sixth win of the season for Manager Emil Scheid's go-go boys and it was the sixth time the Chiefs have returned a winner in the friendly atmosphere of the old orchard.

Winona has yet to win a game on the road. Needless to say, to continue their rise to a Southern Minny place in the sun, the Chiefs will have to crack their jinx on the road.

Stewart Tonight
Slated to start tonight is Norm Stewart, the University of Missouri chucker, against Mankato. Jim Lawler is Scheid's choice for the Thursday night game at Austin.

The triumph against Austin last night was accomplished by a combination of good clutch pitching, some timely base hits and errorless support in the field.

Ed Hobaugh received credit for his second victory of the season but the Michigan State rightie needed relief help from Whitey Felker in the late innings.

Austin got only two hits off the fast-balling Hobaugh the first five frames, but four hits scored three runs in the sixth, and when Bob Riggensbach and Bill Jennings opened the Austin seventh with singles, Hobaugh was lifted for Felker who got the side out without any damage.

The Chiefs got 11 hits off Austin starter Jerry Speck who went the distance and absorbed the loss. Sid Langston continued his recent hitting surge with two singles and a 375-foot home run to left center field.

Catcher Len Swartz batted two-for-three and Jerry Kindall, who had gone 2-for-25 prior to Tuesday night, shook his slump with three hits in four times up.

2 Double Plays
In the fielding department, a pair of Winona doubles eased the tension several times.

In the fourth inning with one out and the singling Sammy House on first, Red Lindgren lifted a fly to the left field bull-pen screen to a fly to Kindall and then got the side out when clean-up hitter Roy Gilmore bounced to Bill Leach at third. Leach tagged third for a force play and fired to first to catch Gilmore.

The Chiefs hit safely in every inning except the eighth. Langston's homer provided a 1-0 margin in the second. Another run came in during the third when Al Radsavage's sacrifice fly to left field scored Hobaugh.

2 More in 4th
Two more came in the fourth. Langston and Swartz opened with singles, advanced on Tom McDewitt's sacrifice and scored when Hobaugh singled.

Austin got three runs on four hits, a walk and a balk by Hobaugh in the sixth to close the gap, but Felker's relief hurling and two Winona insurance runs in the seventh iced the game.

Speck walked the bases full in the seventh and McDewitt parked a ground single down the third base line that caromed off the bull-pen fence to score a pair of runs.

The go-go Chiefs pilfered a pair of bases Tuesday night, thanks to Kindall and Jack Triplett, to give them seven thefts in the past three games, a rather shocking way to break the sometimes staid surface on the good old Southern Minny League.

Williams in Regular Role Sparks Bosox Victory Surge

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

If Ted Williams doesn't call it quits for good this season, the Boston Red Sox management is going to be in a pickle—how can you give a raise to a guy already making a hundred grand?

A player in that salary bracket (which means Williams, although he's getting a scaled-down check because of his late start) doesn't figure to get a bonus no matter what he does. But he is worth $100,000 to the Red Sox and baseball, at the gate alone, just by putting on a uniform.

Take last night. The Red Sox made it 12 out of 14 by beating the fourth-place Detroit Tigers 5-4. It was Williams' home run with two on in the eighth that did it.

When Williams came back May 28, Boston was 17-24 for the season. They won seven of the next 13 with Williams, still getting into shape, appearing only infrequently.

Then, 10 games ago, Williams took over left field as a regular. Boston has won 8 of the 10, pulling up to .500 at 32-32. Ted has hammered seven home runs, driven in 14 and batted .429 for the 10 games.

The homer last night was on a 3-0 pitch by Ned Garver, Ellis Kinder, another old pro like Williams, came on in relief in the ninth to preserve Tom Hurd's victory.

Milwaukee Tops Pittsburgh For 5th Straight

Mathews, Adcock Provide Homers For Hurler Buhl

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves, sprouting victories under the home park influences of big crowds and warm, fair weather, hung up their fifth straight victory Tuesday night by knocking down the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-4.

Stout pitching by Bob Buhl and home runs—big clouts by Eddie Mathews and Joe Adcock—were the victory combination as Milwaukee reinforced its hold on third place in the National League and edged up on the second place Chicago Cubs.

Buhl, young fastball righthander, who suffered through the 1954 campaign on a list of losses, added new weight to the promise that 1955 will be better. He improved his season record to 4-5 as he held the Pirates to six hits, struck out four and gave up only four bases on balls.

The homers, besides being vital to the scoring, gave an atmosphere of here-to-stay to Mathews' post operation spurge that saw his homer production spurt and his batting average fatten until it's now .293.

For Joe Adcock, benched because of poor hitting, it was a sign that things may be looking up. The Braves try for No. 6 when they engage the Pirates in the final of the three game series tonight. Warren Spahn (4-7) is set to face Max Surkont (6-6). And Big Max, a one-time Brave who hated to leave, likes to beat his old mates.

Milwaukee has an open date Thursday and starting Friday the Brooklyn Dodgers, with their 13½ game lead over the third place Braves, will be in town. The Braves are now a game and a half behind second place Chicago and the Cubs come up on the schedule next week.

The Braves wasted little time in getting started Tuesday night. Bill Bruton led off the first inning with a single. Johnny Logan added a single and Bill Raced home on Mathews' long fly.

Mathews blasted his homer in the third and sent the bunting Bruton home ahead of him. Eddie's blast cleared the centerfield fence and rolled all the way to the trees at the far edge of the stadium. It was his 15th round tripper of the season.

The Mathews homer followed by an inning Adcock's shot over the left field fence. And while the Braves were collecting four runs Buhl was racing through the Pittsburgh batting roster setting down the first nine Pirates he faced in order.

The Pirates picked up their first hit—and run—in the fourth. Roberto Clemente and Dick Cole singled and Clemente scored on a fielder's choice rap by Dale Long. Buhl then went to work again on the Pirates and pitched past the next 11 men to face him without one getting to first. In the eighth the Pirates scored their second run on two hits.

Doubles by Frank Thomas and Dick Groat coupled with a walk to Gene Freese in the ninth started the Pirates on a two-run rally that ended with the tying runs still on base.

The Braves added their fifth and sixth runs in the fifth by combining two hits—singles by Logan and Aaron—and walks to Mathews and Adcock.

Babe Zaharias Out for 3 Months

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Babe Zaharias will be out of golf at least three months following spinal surgery, her physician said Tuesday.

Mrs. Zaharias will undergo surgery to correct a ruptured disc "within a very few days," Dr. S. R. Snodgrass said. She is believed to have hurt her back when she tried to push her car after it got stuck in sand about three months ago.

Dr. Snodgrass said she would be out of golf three to six months. He emphasized the injury has nothing to do with the successful cancer operation she underwent two years ago.

By JIM KLOBUCHAR
MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The reward for a year of obscure apprenticeship in baseball's big show did not come for Paul Giel in the tinging moment of his first victory as a big leaguer.

"It's hard to say just when the rest of the guys and the coaches decide you've made the team," Paul said. "But that was the real exhilaration for me — when I became one of the team and not just a bonus boy hanging on."

Giel stood in the New York Giants dressing room at Milwaukee, towel-drying off after doing nothing, unhappily, but sit in the bull pen and watch his team take a 7-4 whipping from the Braves.

The onetime Minnesota football All-America rarely if ever before went through the scrub's anguish of trying to make a place for himself.

"Up here winning a job comes hard," Giel said. "It frays your confidence when no one thinks enough of you to use you in the tight spots."

Giel has known that kind of exasperation for a year, realizing all the time that nothing was to blame save his own greenness.

During the last five weeks, however, the young man who pocketed $60,000 just for signing a contract has started to earn some of that cash.

"Leo (Durocher) started letting me work relief in some of the close games. About that time I realized you can't stay up here too long just by firing that fast ball and hoping it gets by the hitters. I tried throwing to spots — on the corners, in close on the handle, that kind of thing."

"I think it's working. I know its done a world of good for my own peace of mind, knowing I'm one of the working pitchers instead of just a fill-in."

To this visiting reporter who had seen him in more lighthearted moods, Giel seemed intense almost to the point of grimace. And, on the word of Durocher, his fighting heart has accomplished what a little more than ordinary talent, by big league standards, might not have.

Durocher, always the champion of the promising newcomer, seems convinced that Giel will some day be an ace of the Giants pitching staff. Yet for reasons with which Giel has no complaint at all, he has withheld him from a starting assignment.

"They know better than anyone how far I've come and how far I've got to go," Giel said with a straightforward nod. "You can never learn too much in this business."

Giel delivered three fine innings of relief duty to beat Chicago a week ago. Sunday against the Braves he pitched seven innings, his longest stint in the majors, and was beaten for the second time this year.

But he pitched well enough to win four games in five, and ultimately lost on an error. He wasn't overpowering anybody, striking out only one. The one strikeout was against Eddie Mathews, in a potentially dangerous seventh inning situation.

Giel returns to Minneapolis with the Giants Thursday night for an exhibition against the Millers. He is expected to pitch at least a couple of innings for the home folks.

After the season Giel is scheduled to enter the Army for two years with an ROTC commission.

When he comes out, Durocher says a starting job with the Giant pitching staff should be waiting for him.

RUSTY RILEY

HOW'S YOUR STAR JUMPER, QUENTIN? IS THE BET-A-SUCKY DEW ON OR OFF?

IT'S ON! LEAPING LEO'S COMPLETELY RECOVERED.

STRANGE THING. HE WAS QUITE LISTLESS TILL HE HEARD THAT DUCK'S VOICE. THEN HE PECKED RIGHT UP.

THAT GO? THEN YOU'VE CREATED MEDICAL HISTORY.

HOW?

IT'S THE FIRST TIME A SICK HORSE WAS CURED BY A QUACK!

Congress Club's Book Cooks Up Finances

WASHINGTON (AP)—Recipes of the "outs" don't help sell the cookbook for the "ins," wives of members of the 84th Congress agreed when they decided to publish a new edition of their own Congressional Club Cookbook.

Favorite recipes of the lawmakers' wives, gathered into a cookbook and widely used, have helped them to have a meeting place of their own. The third edition, published in 1948, paid off the last mortgage on their clubhouse and subsequent editions have supported it.

The new book, due in September, will be a personalized, loose-leaf edition with one recipe from each of the 337 members photographed for reproduction in their own handwriting. It will cost around $3.

"With the turnover in Congress and changing membership, it's difficult to keep the book current," Mrs. Abernethy, wife of the Democratic congressman from Mississippi, cookbook committee chairman, told me. "The new members don't want to buy the old one because they don't want to send it to anyone without their own recipe in it. With a loose-leaf type we can add or remove recipes with each new Congress."

Mrs. Eisenhower and Mrs. Nixon, wife of the vice president, each has been invited to submit a recipe for the new book. Past editions have included favorite dishes of Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt, Mrs. Calvin Coolidge and Mrs. Truman.

Bess Truman's recipe for Ozark Pudding caused quite a to-do because people didn't follow the rules to beat it by hand and it didn't turn out the way it should.

Each member is being asked to submit three recipes from which one will be selected.

"We found we got too many recipes for salads or desserts," Mrs. Abernethy explained. "Once we got eight recipes for the same kind of cookie."

Three members who have had home economics training are on the committee. They are the wives of Congressman Harold Love (R-Sd), Ralph Harvey (R-Ind), and George Andrews (D-Ala). "They all have real cookbook sense," Mrs. Abernethy added.

This is Royal D. Cone, founder of R. D. Cone Co. Winona hardware store which this week is observing its centennial.

Many Products Long Familiar On Cone Shelves

Partially responsible for the 100 years of successful hardware merchandising of the R. D. Cone Co. are the reliable firms that have supplied the store's products through the years.

Some have been suppliers for three quarters of a century. Longest affiliations have been with the P. & F. Corbin Co., New Britain, Conn., and Fairbanks-Morse Co. Records of the CORBIN firm indicate that its line of locks and builders' hardware has been distributed by Cone since the 1870s, while Cone was selling Fairbanks-Morse scales in 1878.

The FAIRBANKS-MORSE dealer magazine several years ago cited the progress of the store, recalling that R. D. Cone's first customer "was a young pioneer farmer, who like himself, had come from the East to establish a home and livelihood on the broad and fertile Minnesota plains." Cone sold him an ax.

The GRISWOLD Manufacturing Co., Erie, Pa., producer of east iron cooking utensils, electric appliances, housewares, metal specialties, dampers and food choppers is observing its 90th anniversary this year, and is another of the Cone's long-time suppliers. Just how long STARLINE Inc., Harvard, Ill., has been supplying barn and farm equipment to the Winona firm can't be determined according to the manufacturer, who explained, "The relationship between R. D. Cone and Starline goes back for many, many years. In fact, it goes back far beyond the oldest records in Starline's files." Starline was founded in 1883, under the name Hunt, Helm, Ferris & Co. (changed in 1930 to Starline) and now produces more than 400 different products for use in dairy and livestock barns. The well-known MONARCH Range Co., Beaver Dam, Wis., has been affiliated with R. D. Cone since 1924. Monarch is in its 59th year of range manufacture.

A pioneer in the lawnmower industry, ECLIPSE is another reliable firm that has had dealings with R. D. Cone through a number of years. Eclipse was incorporated in 1904, when the first mowers were built in a barn. In 1920, production had soared to 7,000 mowers a year with 30 employees. Today, Eclipse has a staff of 250.

The largest and oldest manufacturer of lanterns, R. E. DIETZ Co., Syracuse, N. Y., is another of the firms that has grown and prospered through the efforts of merchants like the R. D. Cone Co. It originated as a lamp and oil business in Brooklyn in 1840, selling household and ornamental table and hanging lamps, candle sticks, girandoles, hall lamps, shades, chimneys and lamp glass of all kinds. Today, main products are electric safety equipment and devices.

The STANLEY Works, New Britain, Conn., had been established as a manufacturer of iron and steel products for only three years when R. D. Cone began in business here, but the two firms have been working together for many years since their humble beginnings.

For more than 50 years, R. D. Cone has been an authorized dealer for ENTERPRISE meat choppers, DECKER Manufacturing Co. curry combs, Henry DISTON & Son and ATKIN saws, SERGEANT squares and LUFTON rules.

1st Hardware Store Started In Only 1820s

Establishment of the R. D. Cone Co. hardware store in Winona occurred only about 25 years after the first store of its kind was founded in Connecticut, according to a history of American hardware development written in the 1920s by Frank A. Hegner.

The first store was established in Church Alley about 1827 or 1828 by Amasa Goodyear, a manufacturer and father of Charles Goodyear, one of the pioneer rubber manufacturers.

It is believed to have been the first store established for the sale of American hardware, although it marked one of the later phases in the industry that now has grown so extensively that large distributors list nearly 100,000 kinds and sizes of articles. At the time of Hegner's writing, the number was only 50,000.

'Distinctly American'
Hardware manufacture was described by Hegner as a "distinctly American" branch of industry. Rough beginnings were caused by British restrictions prohibiting manufacture of commodities that could be made in England. Raw materials as were needed were to be shipped to England for manufacture. Exports and imports were taxed.

But immigrants brought tools with them and copied and improved the patterns; still early manufacturers had little encouragement from the public which continued to favor foreign-made goods. The attitude was inconsistent with the spirit of the Revolution, Hegner notes.

A later embargo prohibited import from Europe and American manufacturers were called upon to meet demands for production without adequate machinery. But Americans met the challenge.

A Turning Point
Hegner terms this a turning point "which carried us from a negative position to the world's greatest manufacturing nation, which changed us from a purely agricultural to a manufacturing country."

Additional opposition came later from large American importers who (as late as 1850) treated the American producers as "intruders." As a result, many dealers declined use of the manufacturers' name and address on American products and effected a boycott on the products of non-conforming manufacturers.

Again American hardware manufacturers met the challenge, producing superior products, at lower cost and more adapted to the needs of the American nation.

Merchandising of hardware spread with the westward move

The Oldest Hardware Store West of the Mississippi in America looked like this throughout its first 91 years of history. The interior of the R. D. Cone Co. hardware store was extensively remodeled in 1946 and the building completely re-

of the early settlers, overcoming the difficulties of transportation with the pioneers. With factories growing in the East, general stores were established as communities developed.

Distributing houses followed, but most merchants found it necessary to make annual or semi-annual trips to the suppliers for quantities of supplies.

Further development of communications, however, spelled the end of the general store in larger communities, although it still stands as a symbol of small communities throughout the nation.

Stores Specialize
As population of communities increased, they were able to support several stores, each carrying a special line of commodities required by the citizens.

"Big sellers" in early stores included nails, shoe and side strap hammers, wooden awl handles, mill, circular and hand saws. Britannia wares, carpenter's planes, Fenn's cockstop and leather faucets, Goodyear's molasses gates, manure, hay forks, shovels and seaxes.

Today's hardware store features an almost indescribable variety of items, including electrical appliances, sporting goods, automobile parts and accessories, paints, agricultural implements and metal goods in addition to the lines commonly termed as "hardware."

Legal Name

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—It's the law in Texas: Water districts can't use money received from the sale of their bonds to install fire hydrants. So such items in these districts are referred to as "flushing" hydrants. Nothing illegal about them.

Hot Crash

CLINTON, S. C. (AP)—Truck driver Alfred Payne was in front of the fire station when his truck caught fire. The blaze was extinguished quickly.

While he was inside the fire station telephoning home, the truck rolled down a grade, knocking down a mail box and a fire hydrant and crashing into an oak tree. The town was without water for six hours while the hydrant was Oldest employee of the R. D. Cone Co. is Henry J. Murbach, 115 W. Broadway, who specializes in hardware service. Mr. Murbach joins the rest of the "Cone family" in issuing an invitation to you to see Cone's huge basement antique display and roam through the store during Cone Century Days Thursday through Saturday.

Army's Fashion Dictator Says 'It's in the Book'

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—He has been called a moralist, a publicity seeker and a power-mad Army officer. But Col. John H. Dilley says of himself:

"I'm just trying to carry out orders."

The tall, sandy-haired West Point graduate stirred up a fuss last summer by cracking down on sloppily dressed American Army wives here. He repeated his campaign this spring.

Both times the reaction was violent.

"Who does he think he is, telling us what to wear?" fumed a sergeant's wife. But she, like the others, soon cooled off and complied. Letters of praise and criticism poured into Dilley's office from all over the world.

"I don't get it," Dilley said in an interview. "I'm just trying to carry out orders. Army regulations mention the subject and I only spelled it out."

Dilley commands the Frankfurt Army detachment. He banned peekaboo sunsuits, bare midriffs, strapless, low-cut dresses, shorts, pin curlers and dungarees as the public wear of Army wives.

High officers at the Army's European headquarters in Heidelberg seem pleased with the 44-year-old colonel. There's a rumor Dilley will be assigned to a regiment in July.

"John's okay," said a fellow officer. "He's just one of those go-getters. When he thinks he's right, nothing will stop him."

"When he first came to Frankfurt in 1953, he was made billeting officer. At that time officers and enlisted men had to wait 11 or 12 months for quarters. By the time John got through the waiting time was cut to three or four months."

Dilley's latest clothing order was directed at the troops. After 6 p.m., he ruled, there will be no sport shirts; ties and jackets will be worn.

Only Black Tea in 'Marijuana' Cigarette

DENVER (AP)—Police put a stop to what they called the youngest con game in Denver. A woman reported her son told her a young friend of his was selling marijuana cigarettes.

Police picked up a 14-year-old boy with two cigarettes. He said he had bought them from an 8-year-old friend.

The 14-year-old bragged that he had a bargain, too. The 8-year-old charged him only 50 cents each. The going price for marijuana cigarettes is about $1.25.

Police started after the 8-year-old for a good stiff talk with the boy and his parents. Meanwhile, Detective John Moritzky examined the cigarettes. They contained nothing but black tea.

Chuck Zervas, 577½ E. 5th. St., is a relative newcomer to the R. D. Cone Co. "family" ranks. He joined the Cone organization 16 months ago. A serviceman on Surge milkers, Mr. Zervas will take a prominent part in the celebration of Cone Century Days Thursday through Saturday.

The shipping department at the R. D. Cone Co. is the special province of Mrs. Clara Goss, 67 E. 8th St. Mrs. Goss, associated with the "Cone family" since Oct. 7, 1947, joins all Cone employees in extending a cordial invitation to all to attend Cone's 100th birthday store-wide sales event Thursday through Saturday.

When Roots Go Deep —

When roots go deep, the tree is strong. It grows and prospers and is welcomed for the shade and beauty it provides. Such is the history of R. D. Cone Company, whose roots go deep into this community and Minnesota soil . . . strong roots of service and satisfaction to its many customers over the century.

The Maytag Company built its first washer in 1907 . . . 58 years ago. Soon after, we started our roots all over the midwest . . . then the nation. In 1926 the R. D. Cone Company became a Maytag dealer. We are indeed happy that for over the past quarter of the century we have been sharing deep roots in this community.

Youth Gives Church Worker Hope for Future

WASHINGTON — Youth packing church meetings, reading the Bible and yearning for education in the Far East gave Eldine Dunbar enthusiastic convictions about a future in which Communism and crime are no longer threats to civilization.

Dunbar, director of young people's work for the Seventh Day

Adventists, has surveyed youth problems in virtually all major countries. He has just returned to his Washington headquarters from a three months' trip in Formosa, Korea, Japan, Indonesia and the Philippines and says he's impressed with the preponderance of young worshippers in all countries.

"You can't help but have great hope when you see youth packing into church and camp meetings and obviously enjoying them," he said. "They have a passion for education. I never saw anything like it. Large numbers of non-Christians are attending our schools. There is a great interest in two things: Christianity and the learning of English. In many places to learn English they are reading the Bible, wherever they can get it."

In the Philippines, he was present at two weekend meetings attended by more than 10,000 young people. He was so impressed he was prompted to thank Pres. Mag-saysay for the "wonderful spirit instilled in the youth of his country," and asked him to address the great Far East Youth Conference his denomination is planning for April, 1956 in Manila.

In countries behind the Iron Curtain, which he has visited in the past three years, he said he found that, in spite of losing some liberties, many people were grateful and happy in the religious freedom allowed them. In Yugoslavia, he attended weekly all-day Adventist church gatherings where youth "enjoyed the fellowship" they found in singing, praying, listening to speeches by religious and youth leaders, and in simple recreation.

Dunbar, as general secretary for Missionary Volunteers, the Adventist youth societies, in which more than a third of a million young people are enrolled throughout the world, is responsible for planning an activity program for the young members who do not attend movies and dances and do not smoke or drink.

There are about 33,000 swimming pools in the United States, half of them private, compared to 8,000 at the end of World War II, most of them public.

New Fertilizer Plant At Hammond, Ind.

HAMMOND, Ind. (AP) — A new plant is going up here to produce 300 tons of ammonia a day for fertilizer. It will use hydrogen, a by-product of gasoline production, and nitrogen distilled from liquid air.

Farmers use special equipment to inject ammonia into the soil to replace nitrogen used by plants. The plants cannot use nitrogen until it is combined with hydrogen, as in ammonia, or some other element. Agronomists say the growing of 60 bushels of corn on an acre will remove 95 pounds of nitrogen from the soil.

A recent study of business executives in the United States indicates that 88 per cent of them have college backgrounds.

Job Seeking Is More Than David's Likes

NEW YORK (U.P.)—There is more to job seeking than deciding what you'd like to do and knowing where to look. Sometimes even after you've set your sights, you can't land the job. This applies even to the summer, week-end or after-school work.

"Why" you ask when you stack your qualifications against those of the successful applicant. "I seem to be better qualified in every way," you might say. But one employer reminds us:

"Most young people undersell themselves when applying for a job. They overdress or have annoying habits that irritate the interviewer. The first person to be impressed is the interviewer whether he is the boss or delegated by the boss."

What are some of these mistakes?

Our employer offers these as worth your consideration:

1. Your letter seeking an interview should state qualifications simply on plain and unlined stationery. Avoid garish high fashion writing papers and colored inks. Typewrite the letter if you haven't a neat legible hand, and incidentally good handwriting is a requirement of many jobs.

2. Dress simply in dress or suit for your interview. Your hair should be clean and brushed into a neat arrangement. Wear a hat. Be sure that stocking seams are straight, shoes polished, and that coat collar is brushed free of dandruff. Avoid high heels, long earrings, and too potent perfumes. A light fragrance is fine. Don't cross your knees at the interview.

3. Too much makeup is taboo. Blot lipstick after you apply it and blend it in with your natural lip-line. Avoid over made-up lips that sprawl out over your face.

Here's a simple makeup: Wash your face. Dry it. Apply cleansing cream. Remove it with tissue. Apply foundation cream the same or one shade darker than your regular skin tone. Take a speck of rouge—dot it under each eye, blend it into the skin. Brush powder lightly over your face. Brush off with dry cotton. Whisk an eyelash brush over lashes and eyebrows. Dab a bit of oil onto your little finger, rub on eyelash tips and brows.

5. When you talk to the employer, speak up. Answer questions clearly. If you think you are good at some phase of his business, say so. If it is a selling job, you might say "I've always wanted to work with people" or "I adore selling" or "I like (whatever the product happens to be.)" The main idea is to show enthusiasm for the job. Don't act like it is a stop gap to another or a fill-in until next school season, even if it is.

6. Write a note immediately to the man who interviewed you thanking him for the chance to apply for the job and for his kindness in the interview. This will help boost your stock even more and if he is considering you along with someone else, might even cinch the job for you.

Four-Family Baby

WILMINGTON, Del. (U.P.)—When Alice Elizabeth Carmine was born, she became the fourth generation for four families. Alice has four great-grandmothers.

Firecracker Bird Rope Perfected

RINGGOLD, Ga. (U.P.)—Norman Allen, a firecracker distributor offers a rope to hang those crop pests — the blackbirds. The law prohibits killing them. Allen devised a firecracker bird rope from an idea originated by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and county agents. It consists of a five-foot length of 5/16-inch cotton plow line, with specially made firecrackers fused into it one inch apart.

The farmer hangs the rope from a pole and lights the bottom end. Each firecracker falls to the ground before exploding. One rope will protect a four to five acre area all day. Allen says, giving off blasts at regular intervals. Several days of the firecracker rope action, he adds, will keep the area clear of blackbirds permanently.

Legislators Put Lt. Gov. on Spot

TOPEKA, Kan. (U.P.)—The Kansas State Senate was considering a bill to increase expense allowances for Lt. Gov. James McCuish, who was presiding. The first vote count showed a 20-20 division.

Chortling lawmakers reminded McCuish he had the tie-breaking vote. Before the embarrassed lieutenant governor acted, however, senators abandoned their practical joke and changed their votes. The bill was passed unanimously.

Miss Helen Morrison, 367 E. Mark St., has been 10 years with the R. D. Cone Co. as chief cashier. She extends a cordial invitation to all to stop at Cone's Thursday through Saturday, view the tremendous antique hardware show and take advantage of some of the finest hardware bargains in Winona history. R. D. CONE CO.—Oldest Hardware Store West of the Mississippi in America!
Hardware Haven for Generations In The Hiawatha Valley!

Here We Were In '49!

Today's management of the R. D. Cone Co. completely redecorated the interior of the original building in 1946, and in 1949 modified its 86-year-old front appreciably. But the basic structure remained unchanged.

Look at Us Today!

The R. D. Cone Co. let out all the stops last year and launched a basement-to-attic remodeling which resulted in virtual razing of R. D. Cone's huge wholesale and retail hardware structure. The second and third floors were removed, the front torn away, and there emerged an all-modern hardware store of which the far-seeing founder himself would be rightfully proud today.

Sporting Goods Moved "Up Front" when the R. D. Cone Co. completely rebuilt its store last year. This photograph pictures the new sporting goods display from the outside looking in. The company has maintained a line of sporting goods throughout its 100-year history. Cone Century Days are Thursday through Saturday.

He Fights Wrong Man, Gets Stuck With Bills

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Late one night a car drove by and someone yelled out of the window, asking pedestrian Eddie Smith, 19, if he wanted to fight. The next day, Smith located Herb Worthington, another 19-year-old, and inflicted the following damage: Cut lower lip, requiring five stitches to close, and a broken partial dental plate. Smith readily admitted a charge of assault and was fined $25 and costs and given a suspended 10-day jail sentence. He also had to pay Worthington's medical and dental expenses. To top it off, Smith learned it wasn't Worthington at all who asked about a fight in the first place.

Learned Teacher

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Classified ad in a suburban weekly: Teacher with family addicted to food needs summer employment.

Underprivileged Have Rights Too

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Just because they're poor folks, relatively speaking only, owners of $50,000 homes don't have to face the back doors of $100,000 homes here. That was decided by the city planning commission which turned down a developer Hal Anderson's proposal to build a group of $100,000 homes fronting away from the $50,000 homes. His promise to spend $25,000 beautifying each back yard with a swimming pool, patio and sunken garden left the commission unmoved.

Hidden Beauties

LAURENS, S.C. (AP)—Laurens long has boasted of beautiful women. The Junior Chamber of Commerce planned a beauty contest to select a representative for the Miss America pageant. But the contest was called off. No contestants.

Honest Delay Gets Charge Dismissed

DETROIT (AP)—Ralph Bennalack told a Traffic Court judge that the policeman-witness was absolutely right: He gave Bennalack a ticket when he saw Bennalack walking against a red light. But the charge was dismissed, after the defendant explained: "I started across on the green light all right, but for some reason I'm just not as fast I used to be." Bennalack is 91.

Man, 82, on Last Lap on Law Degree

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Bert Schnurer, 82, says he's going to be an angelic attorney. On the last lap of a 4-year law course at the University of Miami, he is due for his degree in June 1956.

The sprightly little man with the hearing aid likes to joke about his ambition.

"When I go through those pearly gates, St. Peter is going to grab me by the arm and make me his attorney general," he says. "And I'll have an assistant in Hades to take care of the bad and indifferent."

Schnurer graduated from the College of the City of New York in 1893, before some of his present teachers were born. He did well enough in the fashion manufacturing trade to retire in 1938. In 1952, he enrolled for a law course. Mrs. Schnurer, a bride 58 years ago, enrolled for a secretarial course so she could transcribe his class notes.

Some infirmities of age can be a help Schnurer found. When studying in the law library, he turns off his hearing aid, shutting out distractions.

"100 Years of Friendly Service"

Modernization Readies Store for 2nd Century

The R. D. Cone Co., which this week marks its 100th anniversary of service to Winona, starts its second century with a modern, completely-equipped hardware store which can vie with the best in the Midwest. K. A. McQueen, president, and R. D. Cornwell, secretary-treasurer, believe.

The company is the oldest retail business in Winona. It is the largest hardware store in Southern Minnesota. It is the largest hardware store west of the Mississippi.

And McQueen and Cornwell are confident today that, in diversity of stock and capacity for service, the firm has no peer in the country.

Ten men and nine women are employed by the R. D. Cone Co. handling hardware stock in 12 distinct departments.

They work in a store which has been completely remodeled once, then completely rebuilt and modernized in less than 10 years.

MC QUEEN entered the R. D. Cone Co. in July 1941 when he purchased the interest of former president C. A. Risser. McQueen was born and reared at St. Cloud. His early business experience included association with Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. and several retail clothing stores in St. Cloud before he joined the Gamble-Skogmo hardware group in 1926.

That year McQueen went to Mankato and opened the sixth store in the Gamble chain. A few months later, he moved to Winona and opened Gamble Store 11 in what is now the west section of the Ted Maier Drug Co. at 3rd and Lafayette streets. He operated the store at that location until 1941 when he bought into the Cone organization. McQueen operated the Cone store in partnership with G. A. West until the latter's death in 1943.

K. A. McQueen

R. D. Cornwell

Active in community affairs, McQueen today is a member of the Winona Board of Fire and Police Commissioners and the Woodlawn Cemetery Association board. He is a member and treasurer of the Winona Industrial Development Association.

A member of Central Methodist Church, he has been active in church affairs for many years and served on the board of trustees for more than 10 years. He is a charter member of the Winona Lions Club.

McQueen has maintained an active interest in the Boy Scouts of America for more than 30 years. He holds scouting's Silver Beaver award. Camping chairman of the Boy Scout Sugar Loaf District, he also is a board member of the Gamehaven Area Council and a member-at-large of the national council of the Boy Scouts of America. He is a 32nd degree Scottish Rite Mason and a member of the St. Paul Osman Temple.

Mrs. McQueen is the former Margaret C. Petersen, originally of Chicago. The McQueens have four children, Mary, Robert, Margaret and Kenneth Jr. The family lives at 1762 Gilmore Ave.

The interest of West in the R. D. Cone Co. was purchased in 1943 by McQueen, who 6 months later sold a half-interest in the company to CORNWELL, born at Chatfield and reared at Villard, Minn.

Cornwell had extensive experience in the lumber business before associating with the Cone firm. He was employed by the Standard Lumber Co. at Villard and in the general office of the company in Winona. McQueen and Cornwell operate the R. D. Cone Co. today as a partnership.

A member of the Baptist Church, Cornwell is currently secretary of its Sunday School. He is a member of the Kiwanis Club.

Mrs. Cornwell is the former Doris I. Kohnke, originally of Augusta, Wis. There are two children, Jack, 19, and Judy, 15. The family lives at 657 Johnson St.

The Cone building is the same basic structure which was erected by founder Royal D. Cone 92 years ago, but it has undergone many changes.

In 1946 Cornwell and McQueen extensively remodeled the store. New floors, walls and ceilings were installed on the main floor and all fixtures replaced with modern equipment. A year ago the building was almost completely razed and rebuilt into a modern, single-story hardware store. The second and third floors of the huge old brick building were removed.

All stock stored in a hit-or-miss fashion in the windy upper floors was removed to new, modern bins in the basement of the structure.

The new store front comprises a white brick facade with granite pillars at the side and in the center between two large recessed entryways. The entire front is glass. The sidewalk is new, and entryways are lighted by modern, recessed illumination in an overhanging canopy.

All that remains of Royal Cone's 92-year-old building are the stone basement — newly-painted portions of which are visible in the area of the Cone Century Days basement antique display — and basic supporting beams on the main floor.

The store has changed otherwise, too. For example, in 1942 it had one delivery truck; today it has three.

Distinct departments operated by the firm today include: Sporting goods handled by Harold Micheel; housewares, Mrs. Richard Brandt; major appliances, Ambrose Janikowski; paint and sundries, Mrs. Martin McNamer; plumbing, Mi-cheel; garden tools, Caroline Pap-

This Electric Washing Machine, more than 50 years old and used weekly for 48 consecutive years, is one of the prize "catches" on display at the R. D. Cone Co. antique hardware collection. The entire store basement has been given over to the antique collection, believed to be the largest showing of its kind ever gathered in the Midwest. Hundreds of interested persons in Winona and area and Western Wisconsin contributed hardware relics to the collection.

enfans; dairy equipment, Miss Papenfuss; garden seeds, lawn tools and mowers, Kenneth Wurch; shelf hardware, Wurch; smith department, Henry Mur-

Change of Name Just Can't Fool Misfortune

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Tseng Yun-ting's name means bad luck and you can say that again. He was deep in debt. His job at the bank didn't pay much.

So he changed his name to Hsieh Yung-sheng, which means good luck. He also took off for Kuantzing in south Formosa.

Neither change did a bit of good. A hotel clerk got suspicious of the way he threw money around. Police moved in, arrested him for making off with 125,000 Taiwan dollars from the bank he worked for.

Moving Day

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (AP)—Moving the library of Waynesburg College proved no problem. The 500 students, half of them coeds, carried about 30,000 volumes about three blocks and up a steep hill to new quarters.

Expensive Dessert

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. Harry Lansman ate a $50 hot fudge sundae for dessert. Dining with her husband at a restaurant, Mrs. Lansman said: "I'd give $50 for a hot fudge sundae and all you have is apple pie."

John Leonard, restaurant proprietor, said:

"Give me the $50 for Variety Children's Hospital and I'll get you the hot fudge sundae."

Mrs. Lansman turned to her husband and said:

"Darling, do you have a loose $50 bill?"

Lansman paid.

Age Cuts Tax

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—Antique motor car collectors in Montana got a break from the Legislature—no longer do they have to buy license plates every year. As long as one owner has what he considers a collector's item, he need buy only one plate. The only other time the car needs another license plate is when it gets a new owner.

Mary Kerrigan, 276 Center St., has been employed at R. D. Cone Company for the past three years in the stock and display department. Mary, too, wants everyone to stop in at R. D. Cone Co. during their storewide Century Days Celebration.

Manufacturers Send Greetings To R. D. Cone

R. D. Cone Co. has received congratulatory messages from hardware manufacturers throughout the U. S. since its announcement early this year that 1955 is its centennial year of business in Winona.

Among firms sending their well-wishes were those in the following list, which also includes an occasional comment:

Eagle Pencil Co., New York.
Jungers Store and Range Co., Graton, Wis.
Millers Falls Co., Greenfield, Mass.
Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., New Haven, Conn.
Crescent Tool Co., Jamestown, N. Y.
Minnesota Mining & Manufacturing Co., St. Paul: "We had not realized that a firm with the progressive ideas yours represents could be in business for so many years."

"Best of Success"
Henry Disston & Sons, Inc., Philadelphia: "The best of success and our sincere congratulations on your 100th business anniversary."
Landers Frary & Clark, New Britain, Conn.
Hall-Mack Co., Chicago.
S. C. Johnson & Son, Inc., Racine, Wis.
American Screw Co., Williamstown, Conn.
Wheeler Corrugating Co., Chicago.
True Temper Corp., Cleveland, Ohio: "Your continuous growth through the many years of service to your community is certainly outstanding."
Hoppoint Co., Chicago.
Charles A. Baldwin Co., Chicago.
The Hoover Co., North Canton, Ohio: "We didn't realize that you were nearly as old as one hundred years, and it wouldn't be a surprise at all to learn that you are the oldest hardware store west of Capt. Orrin Smith Records Building Of 'Cone's Block'

Filed with early R. D. Cone Co. correspondence is a letter from Capt. Orrin F. Smith, credited as the founder of Winona, containing excerpts from Winona Republican files during the time of construction of the "new" R. D. Cone Co. building in 1883.

Capt. Smith's excerpts from the Republican included these: "River Items, July 7, 1883. The only steamboat arrival today was the Frank Steele from La Crosse. She brought up a large load of dressed stone which is to be used on Mr. Cone's three-story block. She returns this evening at 7 o'clock, and as usual will make railroad connections at La Crosse."

"September 7, 1883. Building operations are progressing finely. The new block of Mr. Cone's has its walls raised to the designed height, and is now ready for the roofing. This is one of the largest buildings in the state, and will be an ornament to our city."

"September 19, 1883. Two fine brick blocks belonging to Messrs. R. D. Cone and O. Troost respectively are fast approaching completion. The brick work on each is already finished, and the inside operations will commence immediately. The buildings are large, elegant and costly, and are a credit to the town as well as to their enterprising owners."

"November 19, 1883. The second story of Cone's new block is being fitted up in fine style for the Presbyterian festival to be given tomorrow evening. Something less than a ton of the freshest oysters in market has been engaged for the occasion. Of course there will be a big crowd, and great havoc among the bivalves."

the Mississippi. In 1855 there was not much west of the big river."

Rixford Manufacturing Co., East Highgate, Vt.: "It is certainly quite a distinction to be the oldest hardware store west of the Mississippi and we hope that you may have many years more of very successful business. While on the subject, we may say that we are one of the oldest manufacturing concerns in the East and we believe the third oldest in the state of Vermont. Our business was started in 1812 by the writer's grandfather in Winchester, N. H., and was moved to East Highgate in 1837. Taylor Instrument Co., Rochester, N. Y.: "Please accept our congratulations in reaching the milestone of 100 successful years. It certainly is a great achievement, and we are certain that the years

Erie, Pa.: "We, ourselves are celebrating our 90th anniversary this year, our company having opened its doors March 17, 1865, but, like yourselves, we are feeling mighty spry for our age."

Eclipse Lawn Mower Co., Proshettown, Ill.
R. E. Dietz Co., Syracuse, N. Y.: "We congratulate you on having reached this significant milestone. It is a real achievement, we believe, and one which can be claimed by only a very small minority of business establishments. The Dietz Co. (115 years old) is among that small group, and we are very proud indeed of our record."

The Irwin Auger Bit Co., Wilmington, Ohio.
The Luffkin Rule Co., Saginaw, Mich.: "We hope your success will continue as it has for the past 100 years."

W. R. Case & Sons Cutlery Co., Bradford, Pa.
The Wagner Manufacturing Co., Sidney, Ohio: "This is indeed quite an achievement and one of which you can be justly proud."

O-Cedar Corp., Chicago.
O. M. Scott & Sons Co., Marysville, Ohio: "Certainly you folks are in for congratulations."
The Stanley Works, New Britain, Conn.: "Stanley Works being a hundred and some odd years young, welcomes the opportunity to congratulate your concern on its 100 years of growth."

Display of Saws Slated for Friday

A display of saws will be among the features of the R. D. Cone Co. Century Days.
A representative of Atkins saws will demonstrate use of the tools in a trailer at the store Friday.

Supersonic Rain At San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—An aircraft company makes artificial rain in a pipe and shoots cannon shells through it. The purpose is to find out what the rain does to the shells — not vice versa — and is a project for the U. S. Air Force. The study is to determine the amount of rain erosion, or damage, to objects traveling through it at supersonic speeds up to 2,000 miles an hour. The 20 mm. cannon are fired through a 500 foot pipe, into which water is sprayed through holes. The shells exploded 1,500 feet beyond the pipe's top and parachutes float the test specimens down to the researchers.

Girl Pilot, 24, Flies One Engine Plane 8,500 Miles

By IVY COFFEE
PONCA CITY, Okla. (P)—Flying is the life for Jerrie Cobb. She's been doing it almost half of her 24 years.

One of the few women who ferry planes over the world for an aircraft delivery service, she has just completed her longest flight. It was an 8,500-mile trip from California to Asuncion, Paraguay, flying a single-engine, eight-passenger plane. This trip involved a hazardous stretch over the Andes Mountains, which required the use of oxygen at times.

Jerrie feels that she is more at home in the air than on the ground and her log book proves it. She has marked up over 4,200 air hours and has flown over a half-million miles.

A slender, self-reliant blonde, she can service planes as well as fly them.

Jerrie has no home base. The company office is in Burbank, Calif., and she has clothes in Burbank, Miami and at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Cobb in Ponca City.

Working for Fleetway Aircraft Delivery Corp., she has flown all over the Americas and has made three trips to Europe.

Jerrie laughs at people who describe her as a woman of courage doing dangerous work. She insists she "just flies." But she admits she always tries to figure out in advance what she would do in an emergency. She says:

"When something happens, it happens fast and you have to know exactly what to do right then."

At the end of her flight she always dutifully sends a telegram or cablegram to her parents. Her father, a car dealer and former Air Force colonel, taught her to fly when she was 12. She received her private pilot's license at 16.

C. A. Risser Saw Transition of Store

A retired hardware merchant who saw the 100-year-old R. D. Cone Co. gradually evolve from a pioneer firm specializing in service to blacksmiths and wagon makers to a modern, highly-specialized hardware store lives today at 378 Center St.

He is C. A. Risser, one-time president of the R. D. Cone Co. who sold his interest to the present management in 1941. Risser was associated with the company directly—either as an employee or as a member of management—for more than 29 years. For at least 12 years more he was intimately familiar with its personnel and operation.

Eighty-one years old, Risser lives in quiet retirement with his daughter, Jean, a teacher at Washington-Kosciusko School. Mrs. Risser died two years ago.

Born on a farm in Buffalo County, Wis., Jan. 9, 1874, Charles Risser came to Winona in 1900 to go to work for the R. D. Cone Co. He worked "inside" for 2½ years, then went on the road for the firm as a wholesale salesman until 1906. That year, Risser left the Cone organization and went with Jannet-Semple-Hill Co., Minneapolis, for 10 years—always maintaining, he says today, "a very close personal interest" in Cones.

In 1916 Risser, in partnership with Kenneth and William Monson, bought out the C. A. Bauerlin Hardware Store, located at the site now occupied by Montgomery Ward & Co. on E. 3rd St. Two years later he left the partnership and bought an interest in the R. D. Cone Co. A reorganization in the Cone firm that year found Risser named secretary-treasurer, Frank Landon, grandson of founder Royal D. Cone, was president and George Landon, Frank's uncle, vice president.

When Frank Landon was killed in 1923, Risser became president and George West, who joined the company at the time, was secretary-treasurer. Management in the firm continued without change from that date until July 1941 when Risser sold his interest to K. A. McQueen, present head of the hardware company.

Risser, early in the century, saw the economic forces at work which prompted Cone officers to liquidate the wholesale department of their business. In 1903, the company maintained 12 salesmen on the road. Risser estimates today that nearly three-quarters of the total volume of business was at one time attributable to the wholesale department.

But times were changing, and R. D. Cone Co. elected in 1904 to leave the wholesale field to others. Sales of the bulk of its wholesale stock were negotiated that year, and by 1906 its wholesale division was a part of history.

From 1923 until 1941, Risser and West carried on a partnership in the Cone firm which was dissolved when Risser retired. The store was operated as an "Our Own Hardware" member.

Risser's early years included school teaching in Wisconsin in 1891 and 1892. He attended Winona's State Normal School in 1894, later to become Winona State Teachers College.

The retired hardwareman was a member of the Winona Chamber of Commerce in 1914. He was a charter member of the Winona Country Club when the organization was founded in 1918. He served as a member of the State Home Guard in 1917 and 1918.

A charter member of the Winona Kiwanis Club, Risser is a member of the First Congregational Church and held several church offices. In excellent health, but admitting that he is satisfied to "just rest," Risser confesses that he takes a deep interest in the celebration of Cone's 100th anniversary this summer. He played a large part in bringing it to be.

Cone Wholesale Catalogs Record Early Hardware

Proof of the scope of the R. D. Cone Co. wholesale hardware business at the turn of the century is contained in a series of old Cone wholesale catalogs on display this week in the Cone Century Days basement antique collection.

The catalogs, published by the concern almost annually after its "new" building was constructed in 1863 and discontinued about 1904, are collectors' items today.

Among the largest of the catalogs is the volume published in 1891. The title page of the 1,235-page book lists the R. D. Cone Co. as a "jobber of shelf and heavy hardware, cutlery, paints, window glass and builders' and mechanics' supplies, Winona, Minn."

Officers of the firm at that time were: William J. Landon, president and treasurer; G. C. Landon, vice president; E. J. Lewis, secretary; and H. J. Wade, general sales manager.

The frontispiece of the catalog was given over to a full-page picture of Royal D. Cone, founder of the company who died three years earlier.

Had 12 Salesmen.
C. A. Risser, 81 retired president of the company who lives at 378 Center St., recalls that the company had 12 salesmen on the road in 1901.

Major departments listed in the catalog are: Builders' hardware, mechanics' tools, farm tools and implements, blacksmiths' tools and supplies, painters' and painters' supplies, household goods, sporting goods, cutlery and silverware, household wares and tinners' tools and supplies.

In its foreword to the trade, the Cone management wrote: "Our traveling representatives will continue to call on you regularly, and we trust this book will greatly facilitate your comprehensive dealing with them. They will be found ever alert to our mutual good and will amply merit your confidence and patronage."

"Your mail orders will receive prompt and careful attention. Do not cut out illustrations but order by catalog number and description. It is our working formula and cannot fail to exactly convey your meaning."

The R. D. Cone Co. was aware that Winona lay advantageously when the problem of shipping and receiving was faced, for they also added this paragraph: "Our shipping facilities are of the best, our warehouses and store being located on the trackage of the five great railroads entering our city, whose lines and connections ramify every section of Southern Minnesota and the surrounding states."

The catalog index covered 32

An Entire First Floor Section of the R. D. Cone Co. is display area for Southern Minnesota's largest hand and power tool display. Cone is supplier both to the trades and to an ever-growing horde of "do-it-yourself" enthusiasts. All major small power tool pages and the freight classification at the back 10 pages of fine type. Profusely-illustrated; occasionally in multiple colors, the catalog provides an authentic source of hardware styles, fashions and stocks of the day.

The book opens with a section on door lock sets and hardware, all of it typically ornate. One of the city's best examples of the early Cone hardware is still in use in the Exchange Building, 4th and Center streets.

Blacksmiths' and wagonmakers' supplies now largely lost in history were there offered for sale by Cone hardware: Singletree ferrules and hooks, whiffletree hooks, singletree center clips, neck yoke plates, center irons, ferrules and rings, wagonbox hardware of all kinds, seat hooks and fasteners, wagon brake locks, patches and shoes, wagon eveners or double trees, singletrees and ironed neck-yokes, wagon and carriage jacks and sleigh hardware. A variety of carriage trimmings was marketed.

Manufacturers Continue
Among manufacturers doing business with the Cone organization were 124 manufacturing concerns from throughout the country. Of these, more than half are doing business with the R. D. Cone Co. today, a half century later. And scores of new manufacturing concerns have been added to the roster of Cone suppliers.

During its half century as a wholesaler and manufacturer, the R. D. Cone Co. developed trade names of its own. Brand names included Cone, Royal, Wee-no-nah, Pioneer and Universal. Products sold under R. D. Cone brand names included tank heaters, shovels and spades, compass saws, rip and crosscut saws, axes, adzes, lawn mowers, hay carriers, picks, grub hoes, lead pencils, stove pipe and fittings, rubber cement, wood rim cement, hard tire cement, graphite, shears, table cutlery, enameled ware and pieced tin and copper ware.

Golf's Not Exclusive Man's Game

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Advice to golf widows: Don't sit at home and think up cutting remarks to make to your par-happy husband. Instead, get a set of clubs and go out on the links yourself.

This is the advice of Betty Jamieson, one of America's ranking women pros, twice winner of the National Amateur Golf Tournament and once winner of the National Open.

Though she is not married, Betty has observed the eternal war waged between golfing husbands and nongolfing wives. She thinks the whole thing could be cleared up if the little women would discover for themselves the fascination of the fairways. She has, however, a word of warning:

"Never let your husband teach you to play golf, any more than you'd let him teach you to drive a car or play bridge. It just doesn't work. Sign up for lessons with a regular pro, and learn the game right."

More women are playing golf today than ever before, says Betty, and once they are exposed to the game they usually become more rabid on the subject than their husbands. She estimates a million of the country's four million golfers are women—and their number is growing every day.

Betty is a natural-born golfer from San Antonio, Tex., who gained numerous amateur records before turning pro and hitting the tournament circuit. She was working as a reporter on the San Antonio

Schoolboy Safety Patrol Motorized

HAINES CITY, Fla. (AP)—The Schoolboy Safety Patrol has been motorized. The junior high school faces Highway 27, a busy traffic artery on which motorists try to make time. It was a dangerous situation.

Charles M. Conrad, the principal, had a talk with police officials. The upshot was that five safety patrol boys who own motorcycles or motorcycles were given the job of patrolling the road in the vicinity of the school.

They make no arrests, but when a motorist whizzes along at dangerous speed, they ride beside him and signal him to slow down. They take posts at intersections to remind motorists they're in a school zone.

TOUGH GUY?

DEEP PARK, Tex. (AP)—City Marshal Ben J. Royall asked the city council to buy him a new black-jack. His old one was worn out.

Congratulations to R. D. Cone Co.

We are proud to congratulate Winona's oldest store on the celebration of its 100th birthday. May the second century of business be as successful as the first.

Highway Survival Committee Named; Want Better Roads

CHICAGO—A group of prominent citizens from all over the country has banded together as the "Highways For Survival" Committee to arouse public opinion to the nation's "appalling" need for adequate roads.

Arthur O. Dietz, president of the C.I.T. Financial Corp., has been named chairman. In forming the group, he declared: "Two out of every three miles of our roads are inadequate and one out of every three is unsafe. We can no longer afford not to build better highways. Our present outmoded and dangerous highways are, in fact, costing us more than the improvement program would cost."

As part of its campaign, the committee will sponsor a series of conferences throughout the country to which leading citizens will be invited for a full discussion of the problem.

Highways are vital to the survival of our expanding economy which now faces the threat of slowdown of ability to move raw materials and products; they are vital for defense in the event of war, and they are vital for safety, Dietz said.

The committee is non-political and is not advocating any specific legislation, according to Dietz. It intends to promote:

Today's Women

Hat-Buying For Hubby Is Taboo

AP Women's Editor

Select his shirts, buy his pajamas, boss his diet and supervise his hobbies but never try to buy your husband a hat, advises Garvan J. Cavanagh, whose family has been making hats since the turn of the century.

"A man is far fussier about selecting a hat than a woman is," says Cavanagh. "The matter of an eighth of an inch difference in the width of a brim can be of grave importance, and rightly so. A man also pays careful attention to fashion when it comes to hats, and often is too much influenced by whether the mode of the moment is for wide or narrow brims, tall or flat crowns. A man is a timid creature, who doesn't want to stand out from the crowd. He's happiest when he is dressed just like every other man."

Garvan's father John J. Cavanagh, now 90, conceived the dream of a super hat store at 17, when he already was a master hatter. He started buying stock in hat companies at 22, eventually engineering a merger of Dobbs, Dunlap and Knox to form what now is known as the Hat Corp. of America, which makes hats of half a dozen different labels, including Cavanagh, and does a business of more than 16 million dollars a year.

Son Garvan now manages the Cavanagh business as well as being an officer of the hat corporation, and prides himself on preserving the Elizabethan atmosphere of the sacrosanct Cavanagh store on New York's Park Avenue, where the customers range from Bing Crosby and Clark Gable to the Duke of Windsor.

"Whether a hat is right for a man is entirely a matter of proportion," he says. "Exaggerated style is never good. To look his best, a man must have the right height crown and the right width brim for his own face and figure.

"A short man in a wide-brimmed hat looks silly. And so does a great big guy in a narrow-brimmed hat. There is, of course, some slight variation in fashion from year to year, but it is so slight that a man can always be sure that if his hat is the right proportion for his own build and face, he's going to look correct."

The greatest current change in men's hats, says Cavanagh, is a trend toward more formality. More and more men are buying homburgs—even the derby is enjoying a limited comeback—and this summer you'll be seeing the stiff straw skimmers or "boaters" in greater numbers than in the last 20 years.

Mountain Climbers Work on the Rocks

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (U.P.)—Visitors at Colorado's Garden of the Gods won't have to worry about loose rocks falling from the huge stone formations this season. Mountain climbers from the Army's Mountain and Cold Weather Training Command at nearby Ft. Carson have cleared away loose and dangerous rocks. The work on the massive formations is part of the soldiers' training in mountain climbing.

What to Do For Tony's Nosebleed

NEW YORK (AP)—Tony was sobbing as he burst into the kitchen by the back door. One look at him and mother dropped her dish-cloth and ran over to him. His face was a mass of dirt, tears and blood. It was hard to see just what was the matter with him. Mother sat him down on a kitchen chair and sponged off the sad, little face. "Freddie punched me," sobbed Tony, more scared than hurt. Once the face was cleaned it was clear that the blood was coming from one nostril. There wasn't much else the matter with Tony. Tony's mother was accustomed to crises of this sort. She'd not brought up four boys without learning how to cope with the unexpected. Do you know what to do for a nosebleed? Just in case you don't here's what to do. Have the child lie down with his head tilted over to one side, so that the blood will not trickle down his throat. Apply ice, first right over his nose, second at the back of his neck. Get the youngster to suck a piece of ice. Usually this is about all you need to do. In a few minutes the bleeding will stop. The child should remain quiet for an hour or two and not blow his nose during that time. If the bleeding does not subside soon, put a few drops of hydrogen peroxide into the bleeding nostril. This will usually help to form a clot and stop the bleeding. If the nose continues to bleed even after these simple measures, it's best to phone your doctor. However, even the next step is not difficult, and if you cannot reach your doctor you may have to do it yourself. A nose that continues to bleed may have to be packed and there are a few simple tricks worth knowing. Use a long piece of inch-wide gauze bandage. Moisten the bandage in plain vaseline you have melted on the stove. Let the vase-line cool to about body temperature. With a small blunt stick poke an end of the vaseline gauze up the offending nostril. Continue to poke it as long as very gentle pressure puts more gauze into the nostril. Be sure that all the gauze is in one piece and can all be pulled out together. Never, never, poke wads of cotton up the nose. Let the pack stay in place for four or five hours, then remove it gently. After the bleeding has stopped it's necessary for the injured spot to heal without forming a scab, because when a scab is pulled off the bleeding starts up all over again.
